

110 Pennsylvania delegates favor Humphrey's nomination

Three 15th delegates back HHH

Record Convention Bureau
CHICAGO—Three of the 15th District delegates cast their votes for Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey as the Democratic Presidential candidate and one for Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy in a poll of the Pennsylvania delegation early Monday morning.

Supporting the vice president were Justin D. Jirulano and Robert Ungerleider of Bethlehem and Gerald Roth of Allentown. All three had indicated their preference for Humphrey prior to the poll.

John M. Coleman of Easton, a professor of American history at Lafayette College, cast the single vote for McCarthy, as we expected.

After the four-hour caucus, Coleman criticized Pittsburgh Mayor Joseph M. Barr for holding the poll at the first caucus. He said that not all of the McCarthy delegates had arrived yet in Chicago.

Coleman said he hoped another caucus and poll of the delegation would be held after the platform has been adopted and all nominations for the presidency made.

Coleman argued that before it was known who all the candidates were it made no sense to poll the delegation. He does not discount yet the possibility that President Johnson, or even Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, may become a candidate.

Coleman asserted that the polling of the delegation favored Humphrey and was an attempt to force McCarthy delegates to go along with the tide.

Another delegate critical of Barr's tactics was Gerald Roth, although he felt the poll would be much the same taken on Monday or Wednesday.

Lines drawn
He indicated the lines were pretty much drawn in the delegation and doubted there would be many converts either way.

However, Roth said he thought the leadership of the delegation was wrong to force the issue of a poll and further anger the McCarthy faction.

"I think the leadership should stop alienating the McCarthy people by riding rough shod over them," he said.

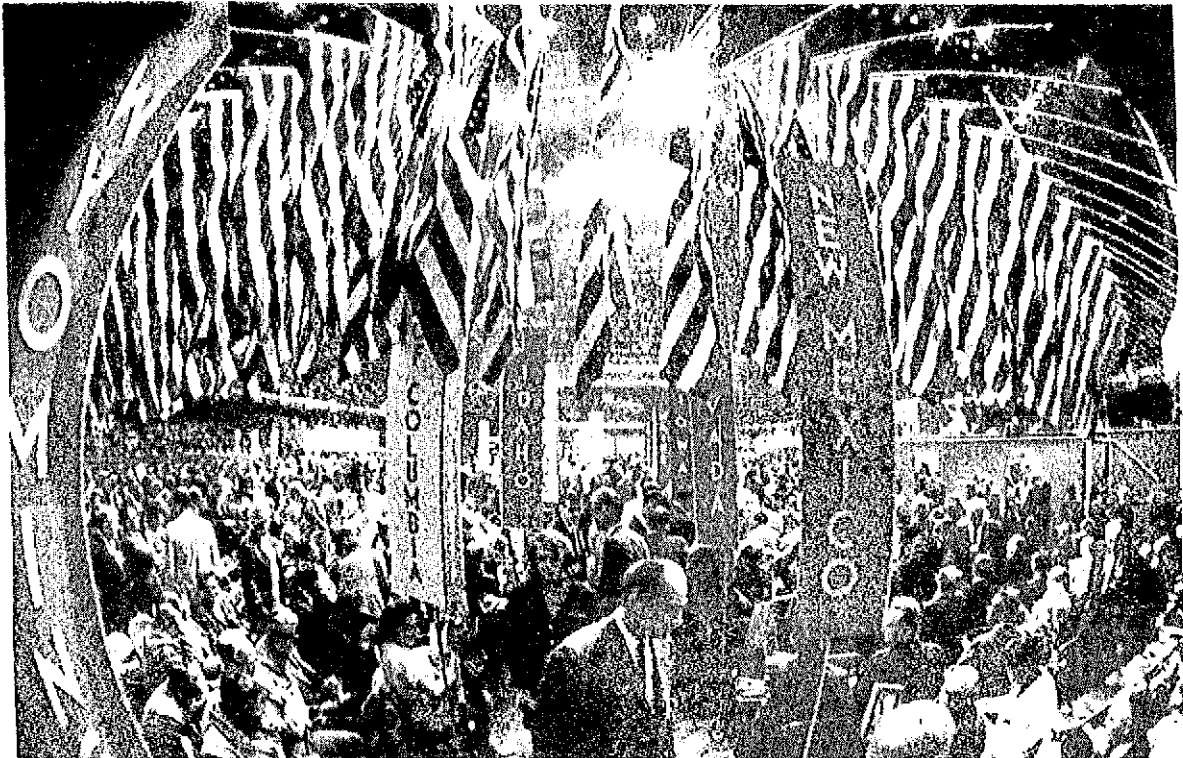

Roth was not actually present at the caucus when the poll was taken. His alternate, Glen R. Moyer of Enniscorthy, voted in his place for Humphrey.

Roth said he planned to vote for the vice president and that his alternate knew this.

Ungerleider, on the other hand, saw no reason for putting off the poll of delegates.

"If the majority is for him (Humphrey) you might just as well come out and say it," Ungerleider said.

Jirulano also discounted speculation about Sen. Kennedy or President Johnson entering the race at the last moment.

Protests mark long caucus

By DAVID B. OTTAWAY
Record Convention Bureau

CHICAGO — A poll of the Pennsylvania delegation held early Monday morning after a four-hour, sometimes stormy caucus showed 110 of the 162 delegates favoring Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey as the Democratic candidate for President and 23 others supporting Senator Eugene J. McCarthy.

The poll came over the strenuous objections of the McCarthy faction and after the delegates had heard speeches from the vice president, Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota, and Patrick Lucey, the National Campaign Coordinator for McCarthy.

In a gesture of protest, 16 delegates, many of them McCarthy supporters, remained uncommitted and one cast a protest vote, there was also one vote for President Johnson and one for Sen. Edward M. Kennedy whose name is increasingly being mentioned as a possible presidential candidate.

Barr under fire

Coming under fire from angry, frustrated McCarthy delegates was Pittsburgh Mayor Joseph M. Barr, chairman of the delegation, who insisted on polling delegates even though nine of them had not yet arrived here.

"This is in exact contradiction to the whole spirit of this convention to poll tonight," one McCarthy delegate shouted at the mayor.

In an effort to pacify the opposition, Barr, who is a strong supporter of Humphrey, told the delegation the poll was not binding and that any delegate could change his mind at any time.

Observers believed the mayor was acting in an effort to boost the vice president's drive to seize the nomination on the first ballot.

The 162-member Pennsylvania delegation, the third largest at the convention, will cast a total of 130 votes.

According to the head count of delegates taken at the caucus, Humphrey was assured of 91 votes and McCarthy of 18 and one-quarter.

However, Barr predicted later that Humphrey would end up Wednesday night with 105 votes, the rest going to McCarthy or McGovern.

In a speech prior to the poll, Barr made an impassioned plea to the delegation to back Humphrey, whom he called "a man of peace."

"There has never come before a democratic convention a candidate who, based on his record and performance in public life and his proven concern and compassion as marked by word and deed, is better qualified for the responsibilities of leadership than Hubert Humphrey."

Strong endorsement

Barr's strong endorsement of Humphrey was in marked contrast to the action of several other key delegation leaders, such as Chicago Mayor Richard Daley and the Connecticut State and Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey, who both decided to postpone the polling of their respective groups.

One member of the Pennsylvania delegation who appeared to be in a tight spot was Senator Joseph Clark, who is running in an uphill fight for re-election this year. Clark arrived late at the caucus and then walked out before the poll was taken, claiming he had a sore throat.

The Pennsylvania caucus, which may be the only one held before the balloting Wednesday night, was open to the press and public in what appeared to be an example of the "new politics" being practiced at the Democratic convention this year.

Police, youth group clashes increasing near convention

Record Convention Bureau
CHICAGO — The confrontation between Chicago police and militant anti-war youth groups intensified Monday as the Democratic convention began its first session.

Additional federal troops were moved into position around the city to back up the 11,900 local police who, on Sunday night got their first experience at dispersing young demonstrators.

The tension was heightened Monday when leaders of the national mobilization committee to end the war in Viet Nam said, permit or no permit, they plan to march on the convention hall Wednesday night when balloting is to begin on a Presidential candidate.

If the peace group persists in its intention, there is bound to be another episode like the one Sunday when more than 1,000 youths massed in a street north of Chicago's famed loop.

They were dispersed by police, but at least 400 continued a march down Michigan Ave. toward the Chicago river which crosses Michigan near the hotel of the New York delegation.

Gates halt march
At this point, police lowered gates on both sides of the bridge, halting the march.

The scent of . . .
Maine delegates have been authorized by Sen. Edmund

The youths, many of them yippies (youth international party), suddenly found themselves virtually surrounded by helmeted police who arrived in a rush by the busload. Before long both sides of the street were lined by policemen.

Many of the young people ran, scattering through side streets. Police motorcycles were driven up on sidewalks to break up clusters of demonstrators.

The entire action—now called "The thing at the Chicago river" by some of the yippies—took place in view of many of the New York delegates who were at their hotel.

Many of the scattering youths ran into the Sheraton-Chicago when police drove them away.

One of the big issues here between city authorities and youth leaders is an 11 p.m. curfew in Lincoln park, the place hippies and yippies had planned as their place to sleep.

The first encounter of the night took place in the park about 20 minutes after the curfew began. About 1,000 people were still in the park when riot-trained police swept into the crowd.

Police were armed with shotguns, carbines, nightsticks and cans of disabling chemical spray.

About 25 injuries and 12 arrests were reported.

Monday night as the convention opened, the park and many streets were again crowded with an even larger number of young people.

Daley bandwagon

CHICAGO — Another bandwagon got under way in Chicago Monday, for Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley. Appearing before all the major hotels where delegates are staying was a large bandwagon with a jazz band at one end, pretty, miniskirted, dancing girls on a platform at the center, and an announcer at the other end.

The announcer told the crowds, in considerable detail and with the help of pasteboard pictures, what Mayor Daley had done for the City of Chicago.

The mayor's name and picture is as much in evidence as those of any of the leading candidates.

"We can't wait"
"We can't wait, Kennedy in 1968," said a big yellow poster in the lobby of the Conrad Hilton Hotel.

Other signs and chalk scribbles that appeared in the city Monday were "Draft Kennedy Now" and "Kennedy for President."

Right now the talk of Kennedy for president is taken more as a sign of discontent with the probable Democratic nominee Hubert H. Humphrey.

Muskie to conduct a low-key campaign to spread the word of his availability on a ticket with Hubert Humphrey.

They are passing out plastic hats, buttons and background literature along with small bags of scented Maine pine. Gov. Kenneth Curtis suggested the pine might offset the odor of the stock yards where the convention is held.

Russian troops to hold ground

PRAGUE (AP) — The Soviet Union will keep large forces — possibly 100,000 troops — in Czechoslovakia under a compromise agreement being worked out in Kremlin talks, informed sources reported Monday.

Three Soviet soldiers visit U. S. Embassy

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) — Three armed Soviet soldiers sauntered into the U.S. Embassy grounds Monday, picked apples in the garden, then climbed to the top of a lookout tower to eat them.

Ambassador Jacob Beam saw them, ordered the American flag raised over the lookout tower atop a summer house in the garden, and told embassy officer Mark Garrison to tell the Russians to get lost.

Two U.S. Marines climbed the tower and put up the flag.

"You are eating American apples, put them back," Garrison told the Russians through an interpreter. "This is U.S. property. The American ambassador would like you to leave."

"We have our orders," replied one of the soldiers.

"I don't care about that," Garrison said. "The ambassador wants you to leave."

The three soldiers put down the apples and left.

LBJ celebrates 60th birthday

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson sat tight on the political sidelines Monday on the eve of a milestone birthday—and characteristically kept his options open on how or where he would spend the day.

About the only thing certain was that it is his 60th birthday.

In return, Moscow would let occupied Czechoslovakia carry on certain of the liberal policies initiated under the direction of Communist party chief Alexander Dubcek, including press freedom.

The sources reported the agreement as the Czechoslovak delegation led by President Ludvik Svoboda was said to be ready to return home from Moscow Monday night or today.

The total of Soviet troops in Czechoslovakia was reliably reported Monday to have reached 350,000, with about 90,000 in Prague and the immediate vicinity, on the sixth day of the occupation.

A Czechoslovak broadcast contended Monday that the Kremlin talks were not held on an equal basis and should continue in Prague.

Czech prexy ends talks

MOSCOW (AP) — A Czechoslovak source said President Ludvik Svoboda was on his way back to Prague Monday night after four days of hard bargaining in the Kremlin on the future of his occupied country. Agreement was reported on some issues with a final settlement left to later negotiations.

Information from various Czechoslovak sources said Communist party chief Alexander Dubcek, detained by the Soviets after their invasion last Tuesday, would retain his post. In return the Soviets would be allowed to keep troops in Czechoslovakia, at least for a while.

Listening device breaks up meeting

CHICAGO (AP) — An executive meeting of the Democratic Platform Committee was disrupted Monday afternoon when delegates discovered what they said was an electronic listening device planted in a television set.

Delegate Ralph Turlington of Florida said a device was planted at the back of the ballroom while the committee was meeting and connected to a wire apparently leading to a floor above.

Committee aides dashed to the upper floor and summoned the hotel management to make a search.

But delegate Phillip Burton told a reporter "I don't think we'll catch them. They've probably cut loose and left by now."

Draft for Teddy Kennedy could capture convention

BY ROBERT S. ALLEN AND JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

CHICAGO — Senator Edward Kennedy is available to be drafted for President.

The 36-year-old heir to the Kennedy political dynasty is unshakably adamant against being a running mate. He holds unwaveringly to his announced decision not to accept second place on the Democratic presidential ticket this year. This stand is irrevocable.

But the young Massachusetts senator would bow to a "draft" as the party's standard bearer.

While this is carefully not being said publicly in so many words, it is a reality nonetheless and is accepted as such and being acted upon by Kennedy zealots and adherents throughout the country. Among ardent Kennedivites it is taken for granted that "Teddy" would run for President if "drafted", and that this may very well happen.

Basis for this fervently-held belief is that the Democratic national convention, opening here today may become locked in an embittered impasse between Humphrey forces and the McCarthy elements, and that the frazzled and frustrated delegates, seeking a unifying leader, will "stampede" to Kennedy as the best prospect for party harmony and election victory.

If this strongly-held hope should eventuate, Kennedy would unhesitatingly respond to the "call".

Reading between lines

Cited in inner Kennedy quarters as irrefutable evidence of this are Kennedy remarks in his carefully-prepared speech at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon in Worcester, Mass., last week. These significant comments are:

"There is no safety in hiding. For all of us the only path is to work in whatever way we can to end the violence, and to end the hatred and the division that threatens us all. So I am resuming my public responsibilities. Like my three brothers before me, I pick up a fallen standard. I shall try to carry forward that special commitment to justice, to excellence, and to the courage that distinguished their lives."

The timing of this address is also being pointed out as of particular note.

It was Kennedy's first public appearance and talk since the murder of his older brother, Senator Robert Kennedy, in Los Angeles last June 5. Also, it took place just four days before the opening of the nominating convention.

Clearly, this timing and what he said was more than a coincidence.

Among the delegates there is now much discussion about two other developments that are viewed as more than coincidence.

Although seemingly unrelated, conjecture is widespread that there is a direct tie between them and that they are part of a carefully formulated backstage plan to spring a stampede drive to "draft" young Kennedy at an opportune moment. The two events are:

McGovern's role

Senator George McGovern's still-mysterious eleventh hour plunge into the presidential scramble. Little known outside of South Dakota, where he is engaged in a very uncertain re-election contest, his candidacy can be explained only on one score—that it's a move to rally and hold Kennedy elements. McGovern is a long-time Kennedy zealot, and it is positively known he conferred with "Teddy" several times by trans-Atlantic phone before throwing his hat into the ring.

Former Governor Michael DiSalle's announcement that he is determined to place Senator Kennedy in nomination for President. As a member of the Ohio delegation, DiSalle, another long-time Kennedy partisan, is in a position to do this. With Teddy's name formally before the convention, the way would be open for Kennedy delegates to vote for him. At the time of his brother's death, he had won 233 delegates in primaries in Indiana, Nebraska, California and South Dakota.

the states in number of votes at Chicago, as it did in Florida. Pennsylvania is sending 162 delegates to the Democratic Convention with 130 votes.

As noted above, the Democrats may be democratic in spreading the delegate votes around, but only the wheels get a full vote at the convention.

The full votes are reserved for the two members of the National Committee, and 42 of the 52 at-large delegates, hand-picked by the State Committee.

Pennsylvania's National Committee representatives are Mayor Joe Barr of Pittsburgh and Mrs. Emma Guffey Miller, the perennial convention-goer, sister of the late, famed U.S. Sen. Joe Guffey who gave his name to the Guffey Coal Act.

Mrs. Miller is living personification of the Democrats' answer to the Republican Old Guard. At 94, she outranks Republican M. Harvey Taylor of Harrisburg by two years.

To preserve the common-man image, 10 of the at-large delegates are sent off to the convention with only five votes between them.

The arithmetic really gets complicated among the district delegates. Four were elected from each of the 27 congressional districts.

That's a total of 108 delegates. But they only have 81 votes. So they are divided up, each with three-fourths of a vote.

Imagine, if you can, poor old Hubert Humphrey, or Gene McCarthy, or George McGovern—or even Lester Maddox—losing the nomination by three-fourths of a Pennsylvania vote!

Mrs. Miller right person to give advice

Mrs. Emma Guffey Miller, 94, oldest delegate to the Democratic National Convention, had this advice Monday for the two youngest delegates: "Have Fun." With Mrs. Miller, National Committeewoman from Slippery Rock, Pa., are Gail McHenry, left, age 19, from Hopkville, Ky., and Susan Werbe, 22, of El Sobrante, Calif.

FBI reports 16 per cent rise in year

Serious crime rate up sharply

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI reported Monday a continued upswing in serious crime in the United States, accounted for largely by an increase in crimes of violence.

No city, state or geographic region appeared immune from part of the hefty 16 per cent boost in serious crime, said FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover. At the same time, he noted a drop of 8 per cent in the numbers of offenses solved.

The figures were from the FBI's 1967 Uniform Crime Reports, a bulky volume of police statistics gathered across the nation each year.

Even more startling than the comparative figures for 1967 and 1966, however, were those for the current decade. These showed an increase in serious crime since 1960 of 89 per cent, with a rise in crimes of violence of 73 per cent.

Hoover said he is most concerned with a pattern that has emerged linking youth with violence, particularly in the large, metropolitan areas. And the long-time FBI head made what has become almost an annual appeal "for greater social action to prevent and abort more careers in crime."

More than 3.8 million serious crimes were reported during 1967, 444,000 of them crimes of a violent nature, Hoover said.

A summary of the statistics for 1967 compared with 1966 showed these trends:

—Crimes of violence increased 16 per cent, the same as the incidence of all serious crime.

—Firearms were used in 63 per cent of all homicides, a 17 per cent increase over 1966. There were 11 per cent more murders in 1967 than in the previous year.

—Serious crime trends were consistent to all areas—16 per cent higher in the suburbs, 17 per cent higher in the large cities and 12 per cent up in the countryside.

—Narcotics arrests up 60 per cent, attributed largely to an increase in marijuana cases.

—Police solutions of serious crimes, down 8 per cent.

—Robbery, up 27 per cent with an increase in the bank robbery rate of 45 per cent.

—Crimes against property up 17 per cent.

The report concluded that almost two people in every 100 became victims of serious crime last year, an increase since 1960 of 71 per cent.

Providing a group of "crime clocks", the FBI report showed the rate of various types of crime as each minute ticked by.

Serious crimes occurred at a rate of seven a minute; someone was being murdered every 43 minutes and a woman was being raped each 19 minutes.

Aggravated assaults occurred at the rate of one every two minutes while there was a robbery every 2½ minutes.

Somebody's house was being burgled every 20 seconds while cars were being stolen at the rate of once 48 seconds. Every 30 seconds, property was stolen.

Murderer's choice? usually it's gun

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI reported Monday the gun is gaining favor as a murder weapon in the United States. It had a role in 63 per cent of the nation's more than 12,000 homicides last year.

This is a sharp, 17 per cent increase over 1966.

But the figures compiled by the FBI show that states with some form of gun control generally had a lower proportion of gun deaths than states that did not.

The big surge in killings by guns was by handguns, which accounted for 48 per cent of the total of all murders committed in this country.

Shotguns were used in nine per cent of all slayings and rifles in six per cent, the FBI statistics showed.

Detailed figures on the number of persons murdered by gunfire in the United States since 1962 were given for the first time in the FBI's annual Uniform Crime Reports, a compilation of data from law enforcement agencies across the nation.

A total of 59,015 homicides were recorded for all states from 1962 through 1967. Fifty-eight per cent of these were firearms murders.

Four Northeastern states with strict gun control laws were among the lowest in the incidence of murder by firearm.

Little League pays taxes under protest

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — Little League Baseball Inc. paid 1966 taxes Monday amounting to $3,558 and penalties, but did so under protest to keep some of its property from being sold at a tax sale.

The borough of South Williamsport, where the properties are located, Armstrong Township and the South Williamsport School District had instituted legal action in an effort to collect the back taxes.

A Little League spokesman said the payment would stop a tax sale of the properties set for Sept. 9.

Nixon aide survives mugging

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Roger W. Whitlesey, executive director of the Nixon for President group here, was reported in good condition Monday, recovering from a throat wound inflicted by two men who assaulted him as he jogged in Fairmount Park.

The 32-year-old Whitlesey, who is white, said he was running along East River drive near Boathouse Row Sunday when two Negroes jumped him from behind.

"This will teach you to be white," Whitlesey quoted one as saying.

He was taken to Graduate Hospital where, according to Whitlesey, doctors told him the wound, had it been a half-inch either way, could have been fatal.

The assailants also beat Whitlesey, who rolled down an incline and lapsed into unconsciousness.

He said that when he came to blood was streaming from a slash in his throat. The assailants had gone and Whitlesey clawed his way back up the incline to seek help.

6,000 enemy slain in bloody Viet week

SAIGON (AP) — Allied commanders claimed Monday more than 6,000 enemy soldiers have been slain in the past eight days of bitter fighting, still continuing Monday in the northernmost 1st Corps area.

U.S. Marine elements fighting to maintain a cordon around an enemy force near Con Thien reported killing 52 of the foe. Marine casualties were termed light although the outpost came under sustained artillery fire Monday.

Scattered fighting also was reported in Tay Ninh Province, 45 miles northwest of Saigon, and in the Mekong Delta to the south.

U.S. spokesmen expressed doubt the large enemy losses in major battles across the country had blunted the enemy command's ability to launch even bigger assaults. They said more hard fighting is expected, particularly in the five northern provinces.

The enemy casualty toll of more than 5,000 killed last week was the highest since the week ending May 18 when 5,348 were reported killed during the second major enemy offensive of the year.

More than 1,000 enemy troops were killed Sunday and Monday when allied units smashed enemy thrusts across the central highlands and the coastal lowlands. Allied casualties were light because of massive U.S. air and artillery support.

In one of the biggest engagements, reinforcements broke through to a besieged Special Forces camp at Duc Lap, near the Cambodian border, and rescued 800 Green Berets and Montagnard mercenaries who had been holding off 3,000 North Vietnamese regulars for three days.

The siege at Duc Lap, broken late Sunday, cost the enemy 643 soldiers slain and more than 200 weapons captured.

But the allied cost also was high: an F100 Super Sabre Jet fighter-bomber and six helicopters shot down, six American advisers and 61 Montagnard mercenaries killed, and 15 Americans and 119 Montagnards wounded.

Two more American planes, an Air Force F4 Phantom and a Navy A6 Corsair, were announced as shot down in attacks on North Vietnam. The pilot of the Corsair was rescued after he bailed out over the South China Sea. The two crewmen of the Phantom are listed as missing.

These losses raised to 185 the number of U.S. warplanes lost in combat over North Vietnam.

In the air war, U.S. B52 bombers flew 10 missions late Sunday and early Monday, hitting troop concentrations, staging areas and enemy base camps.

U.S. fighter-bombers flew 112 strikes over North Vietnam Sunday, pounding river supply boats and truck convoys.

Steel output takes tumble

NEW YORK (AP) — Steel production last week fell 3.4 per cent to 1,963 million tons from 2,032 million the previous week, the American Iron and Steel Institute reported Monday.

Output for the year to date totaled 92,007 million tons, up 14.8 per cent from 80,136 million in the like period of last year.

Production last week (100 equals 1957-59 average) by districts: Northeast Coast 105, Buffalo 96, Pittsburgh 96, Youngstown 100, Cleveland 101, Detroit 130, Chicago 93, Cincinnati 123, St. Louis 92, southern 152, and western 128.

Ike stays in serious condition

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower remained in critical condition Monday, his heart plagued by a further increase in the so-far persistent cardiac irritability.

Doctors indicated the irregularity is short of the immediately life-threatening level but still very serious.

They said the 77-year-old general continues to rest completely and enjoyed a light breakfast. He feels no pain or discomfort from the irregularities besetting his heart, they said.

Evidence of the persistent irregularities, they said, is shown by means of electrocardiograms flashed continuously on electronic instruments linked to Eisenhower.

In a 10 a.m. EDT medical bulletin, doctors of Walter Reed Army Hospital reported that Eisenhower "has shown further increase in heart irritability since yesterday."

They have said that such "irritability" can range all the way from single extra beats to rapid repetitive heart action, the extreme of which is ventricular fibrillation.

In ventricular fibrillation the entire rhythm of the heart's pumping action is thrown out of gear.

Since he was stricken by his latest heart attack on Aug. 16, Eisenhower has suffered 10 such maximum episodes including the one marking the very onset of his heart attack, but has quickly rallied from them.

The most recent occurrence of rapid heart action, short of the maximum took place some time Saturday night or early Sunday morning.

In Monday morning's medical bulletin, the doctors said that extra beats have been occurring with increasing frequency, but there have been no further episodes of rapid heart action.

State rejects bid to boost auto rates

HARRISBURG (AP) — The State Insurance Department refused Monday to grant a 9.1 per cent automobile insurance rate increase proposed by the Insurance Company of North America.

Commissioner David O. Maxwell said the company failed to establish that its proposed revisions in private passenger family automobile rates were not excessive, inadequate or unfairly discriminatory.

The company filed its proposed rate adjustments on June 10 and had asked that they become effective Aug. 26. A public hearing on the filing had been held on July 22.

The company had said the proposed boost in liability, physical damage and medical payments rates included reflection of investment income on assets equivalent to unearned premium reserves.

The company said the net impact on its family automobile insurance policyholders would have been $435,100.

Altoona police nix negotiator

ALTOONA, Pa. (AP) — The chief negotiator for Altoona policemen said Monday he will resign because department members voted down the city's final salary offer.

Sgt. Andy Dubbs said the 44 to 35 vote against the pay package amounted to a vote of no confidence in his leadership. He had recommended approval of the offer, which had been accepted 79-3 by the city's firemen.

Dubbs also said he would quit as president of the Mountain City Fraternal Order of Police.

'Angels' disturb families

PROMISED LAND — A band of 50 members of the "Angels," a Lehigh Valley Motorcycle Club, enjoyed themselves at Promised Land State Park Sunday-but vacationers didn't. Scores of family groups at the state park Sunday were visibly repulsed by attendance of the motorcycle group who had been accompanied to the park by three car loads of girls. S. Shelton, superintendent of Promised Land State Park, said that the "Angels" did not abuse family groups at the park, but that their presence made an uneasy day for family gatherings. Shelton said that family groups were concerned that the "Angels" or, even similar groups could attend the park. He explained, however, that until actual park rules and regulations are broken, a group such as the "Angels" are permitted in the park. The group, Shelton said, knows the park rules and seemed to go only to the point of breaking them. He explained that actions by members of the gang seemed to dare park officials into action. But since no regulations were violated, the group was left alone except for the stares of family groups. Shelton said when the group left the park, they were drag racing on Route 390 but had dispersed before state police arrived on the scene.

Two injured on cycle in accident

DINGMANS FERRY — Two persons on a motorcycle were slightly injured Sunday at 7:10 a.m. on a rural route about one and a half miles west of Dingmans Ferry. Taken to St. Francis Hospital, Port Jervis, N.Y., where they were treated and released were Paul Schulden Jr., 29, of Clark, N.J., and his passenger, Edith Brockwell, Sanford, N.J. State Police from Milford said the driver failed to make a curve in the highway, ran off the side of the road, lost control, and flipped over.

Stecks have be(e)autiful life

By PEGGY BANCROFT
Record Correspondent
NEWFOUNDLAND — There's probably only one animal in this whole, wide, wonderful world that Mrs. Elfride Steck, of Panther, doesn't like. That's the skunk. And the reason why she dislikes skunks is because she keeps bees.

The Stecks-Elfride and Otto read a book entitled, "A Little Land, a Lot of Living." They didn't want to be buried in New York City. And they find every facet of life interesting.

So it naturally followed, when they retired to the Poconos (after briefly considering the Catskills) that they would raise goats and keep bees and do organic gardening and a hundred and two other unique things, just "to keep out of mischief."

Actually, it is impossible to imagine either of them just sitting down, doing nothing.

Bees a must

Ask a question about bees, and, in her soft, accented voice, Mrs. Steck waxes gently-enthusiastic about them. Bees are a "must" in her life. Once you have acquired a hive, you will never be without one, she assures you.

Way back when, the Stecks ordered three pounds of bees. You may buy two pounds, but three is better. But their bees died during that first winter, so they ordered more. Then, one day, out of the clear Pocono Springtime sky, a big swarm came into the hive on their own. And the hives have never been empty since.

In April, there are no blossoms in the Poconos, so the Stecks feed their bees sugar water. When the mountains burst into bloom, the bees go out and find pollen and nectar, and there begins a heavy honey flow, averaging about one hundred pounds a year, or, in a good year, up to two hundred pounds.

DV school expected to seek court order

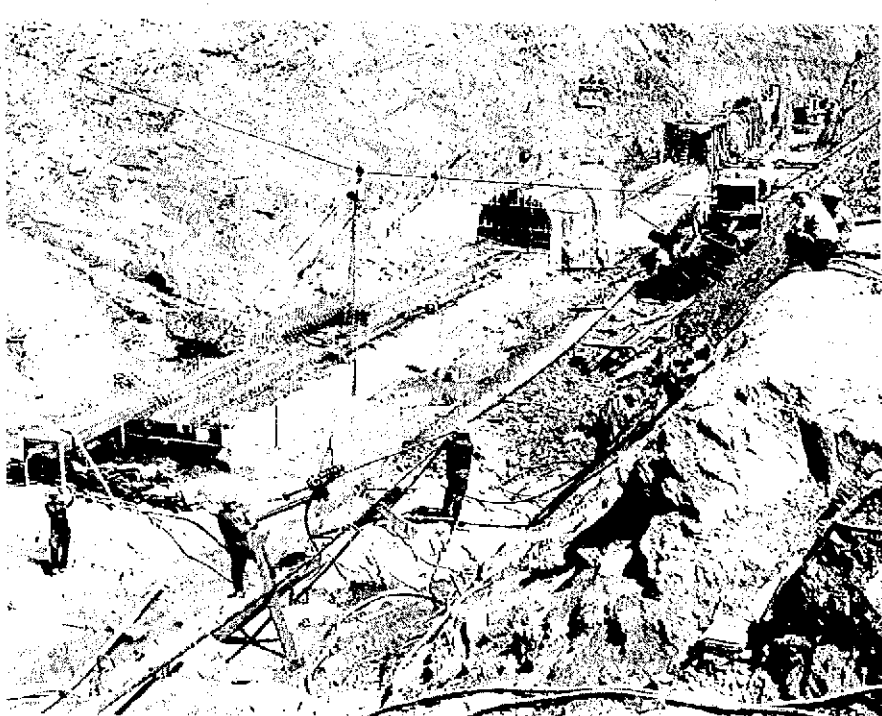

MILFORD — The Delaware Valley School District Board of Education at its regular monthly meeting Thursday is expected to proceed with a writ of mandamus forcing the Pike County Commissioners to comply with a 1943 assessment law, informed sources said.

The Board of Education last May adopted a resolution demanding the County Commissioners to comply with the assessment law by August 1 or face a writ of mandamus.

The Commissioners last week, in a three page statement to the Board of Education, said that the county is presently being reassessed on a gradual basis by local assessors.

The school board, in its May resolution, stated that it will join the East Stroudsburg Area School District "and any other municipal corporation or school district within Pike County who desires to become a party, to mandamus the Board of Assessment and Revision of Taxes and the County Commissioners for failure and neglect to take steps to comply with the . . . Act of 1943 and its amendments."

meeting last Thursday, discussed the letter from the Pike County Commissioners, but took no action.

Formal action is expected this Thursday, however.

At Thursday's meeting, the School Board is also expected to select a financial adviser in the bonding of the $2.9 million new high school.

Representatives from four bonding companies were interviewed during the committee meeting with each presenting similar proposals. Bids for the new school are expected to be advertised next month with construction planned for October.

The four bonding companies are Dikker and Peabody; C. C. Collins and Co.; L.F. Rothchild and Butcher and Sherier. The Rothchild firm represented Delaware Valley during its last bond issue.

The new school was suggested in 1964 and is expected to be complete for the 1970 school term. The new building was originally scheduled for completion in 1969.

Pollution lacking evidence

MILFORD — The State Health Department has no evidence that lakes in the Birdwood Lakes Development are polluted, Carl L. Mease, assistant attorney general said in a letter to Milford attorney Sidney Krawitz.

"Please be advised that the Department of Health has no evidence that these lakes are presently polluted," he said in his letter.

"Of course, as in every development of this nature, there is always a possibility of contaminants entering the lake from malfunctioning septic tanks or other sources, particularly as building around the lakes increases.

"However, this problem could be eliminated by the installation of public sewers initially," Mease added.

"At the present time," the letter continued, "there are two bathing beaches on these lakes under permit from the department and three others under consideration."

Mease said that the Health Department is " . . . undertaking an investigation to determine whether there is any potential danger of pollution to the waters used by bathers."

Tri-county FFA show winners

BANGOR — Future Farmers of America members from the Monroe, Carbon and Northampton counties chapters conducted their district Dairy Show and Judging Contest Friday afternoon at the Budd Ott farm, Bangor, R.D. 2.

Lawrence Patvin, vocational agriculture instructor at Bangor High School and advisor to the Bangor Chapter said that boys from the Pleasant Valley, Bangor and Eastern Northampton FFA Chapters, including Pen Argyl, competed in exercising their ability and qualifications for judging dairy cattle.

Dairy animals were used from the Ott herd with judging taking place in four classes of animals. The placing for the overall four classes, a possible 200 point score, was as follows with 10 paying places:

First, Ken Brewer, Bangor, 173 points; second, Carl Fuls, Bangor, 172; third, Larry McEwen, Bangor, 170; fourth, Bruce Fox, Bangor, 168; fifth, Dennis Fox, 157; sixth, Ray Mack, E. Northampton, 145; seventh, Philip Poliskiewicz, Bangor, 142; eighth, Steve Smith, Pleasant Valley, 139; ninth, David Jansma, Bangor, 135; tenth, Steve Ott, 133.

Individual first class placings were: Junior yearling; tie between Mack and Fox; senior yearling, Fuls; two year cows, three way tie, Fox, McEwen and Brewer; aged cows, three way tie, Smith, Fox and Poliskiewicz.

Two youths put in jail

STROUDSBURG — Two Monroe County youths were committed to Monroe County Jail Saturday night in default of $100 bail each, but were released later after bail was posted.

Committed were Steven G. Miller, 20, Stroudsburg R.D. 2; and Donald E. Leap, 20, of Seioia. Both were charged with possession of malt or brewed beverage and not being of the legal age to consume malt or brewed beverage.

Stroud Township Police arrested the two youths and took them before Stroud Township Justice of the Peace Raymond Silver. They will be given a hearing at a later date.

Monroe County youths win first place in district

WILLOWDALE — Three Monroe County 4-H Horse Club members placed first as the county team in the District Nine 4-H Horse Show at Willowdale Recreation Area, held Saturday.

A total of 13 Monroe County 4-Hers were among the 100 horse club members from the district's six county area including Berks, Carbon, Lehigh, Northampton and Schuylkill.

John Withrow, county agent for Monroe County and show manager for the district, said the district show is one of 10 being held in the State.

State show

First and second place winners in each class, except the three trail classes, will be eligible to participate in the State 4-H Show in Harrisburg in November.

Each county entered one team of three riders, riding abreast, in unison over a prescribed course. First place went to Monroe County. Team members were: Frank Christman, Gilbert; Anna Coslar, East Stroudsburg R.D. 3; and Sherrill Snyder, Saylorsburg R.D. 3.

First place winners from Monroe County included: Ted Holmgren of Saylorsburg R.D. 1, riding Dividen in the hunter under saddle class and Donald Switzgale of Brodheadsville riding Sonny in pole bending class.

Walk and Jog

Rock Radvon, Henryville, placed second in the Walk and Jog, riding Poncho; Barry Altomese, Brodheadsville, placed third in pole bending riding Beauty; Switzgale placed third in cloverleaf barrel race.

Effort man hospitalized

EFFORT — William Gould of Effort is a patient at Gnadent-Henten Hospital, Lehighton. He was admitted to the hospital after he fell from a bridge parapet last Tuesday.

A construction inspector for the State Highway Department, Gould fell from the bridge being erected as part of the two-lane approach to the Northeast Extension over the Pohopoco Creek. He suffered contusions.

Area visitor sent to jail

EAST STROUDSBURG — John J. McLaughlin, 66, of Norristown, Friday was committed to Monroe County Jail in default of $1,000.

McLaughlin is charged by East Stroudsburg police with corrupting the morals of a minor.

Other placings by Monroe 4-Hers included:

Anna Coslar, third place in western reigning, fourth place in cloverleaf barrel race, fifth place in open trail; Sherrill Snyder, fourth place in open trail and fifth place in stock seat equitation; Elaine Coslar, third place in hunter seat equitation.

The planning committee for the district show is made up of Penn State University Cooperative Extension representatives and 4-H leaders. For district nine they are:

John Withrow, chairman, vice chairman, Dale Detweiler, Northampton; secretary, Charles Stoff, Berks; treasurer, Charles Hendry, Monroe.

Show officials included: Charles Hendry, Nepla, as Steward for English classes; announcers, Don Fowler of Northampton and Dana Richardson, Saylorsburg R.D.; assistant show manager, Detweiler.

Prayer makes church modern and man human

NEWFOUNDLAND — "The Church Comes of Age," was the theme of the eighth Vacationland Ministry Service at the Newfoundland Arts Center Sunday night, when the Rev. James Zeisloft of Lewisburg spoke in the Arena Theatre.

Introduced by the Rev. William Jones of Beach Lake, Mr. Zeisloft pointed out that the basis for action in the living church is prayer.

"Prayer is what makes us fully human," he said. "It is at the point of prayer that we, the church, become modern, because Christian prayer is an act where we receive and accept the responsibility of God's work on earth."

Begin on knees

"We begin on our knees," he continued, "and then move out into the world for action. We are the world church. It becomes only as effective as we are as we fulfill our inheritance."

In his benediction, the speaker concluded, "May the Lord take away your peace until it is the real peace that comes from doing His work."

An exciting preacher with a contemporary style and a unique approach to the church and its mission, the Rev. Mr. Zeisloft is director of the Methodist Student Center at Bucknell University.

He told his listeners he had

Two fairs highlights of season

Today lifts the lid on another fair week in both Monroe and Wayne counties — events that mark the end of the summer season on an annual basis.

The 47th West End Fair in Gilbert opens today at 2 p.m. and runs through Thursday. It certainly is the major social event of the season in the West End section of Monroe County. It is also a major attraction for other areas of the county and surrounding territory.

It also affords those so inclined to compare their various prize farm, 4-H, sewing, canning, gardening, etc., accomplishments with other residents of the area. Judging of these events is always the highlight of the fair.

The horse show, band music, various rides and carnival-like bits of entertainment all add up to three days of fun, entertainment, accomplishments and relaxation for those either entering the judging or horse show or those just attending the fair as spectators.

The West End Fair hasn't always been a three-day affair. There was a time when all the action was crammed into a single day. The move to a three-day event has vaulted the fair into a much larger event and has made the entire fair available to more people.

The Greene-Dreher-Sterling Fair opens a five-day run in Newfoundland today. Offering a wide variety of events, the Greene-Dreher-Sterling Fair has also grown by leaps and bounds over the years. It is a shame that the dates of the two fairs are in opposition to each other, as many people from the two regions would like very much to see both events at their peak.

Each of the fairs will play host to thousands of people this week, affording entertainment to visitors and rewarding those entering competition for hours of tireless labor. The fairs are also a tribute to all those people who work so hard each year to make them successful.

Sorry to say — the fairs also serve as a reminder that Labor Day is virtually upon us and another summer is on the verge of becoming history.

Pension plan warning

Pennsylvania Legislators better realize that this year's pension plan will be scrutinized more carefully than ever by the general public.

Last year, you might remember, the legislature, during the closing hours of the General Assembly, passed a bill boosting their retirement benefits in such proportion that Governor Shafer vetoed the measure.

Under present law, any member of the legislature who had served one term (two years) is eligible for pension. One of the large items being checked by the leaders of the General Assembly and Gov. Shafer is eligibility requirements. It has been suggested that a minimum of six years and attainment of age 50 be the requirement.

A maximum figure for annual benefits has yet to be decided, but the leadership is urging $12,000 a year equivalent of a full year's salary.

Under the bill vetoed last January, one officer in the legislature, with 30 years of service, would be likely to draw a pension of $42,000 per year.

Shafer promised the legislators that he would sign a "reasonable bill" this year but if the people of Pennsylvania keep aware of developments and become as involved in politics as they have become in the past few years, the proposal better be a sound and sensible arrangement.

A word to the wise, it is said, should be sufficient!

Stamp news

New stamps on way

By RAY PATTON

The Postmaster General has listed several issues for 1969 including the 150th anniversary of Alabama Statehood; the 200th anniversary of the settlement of California; 100 years of intercollegiate football (incidentally stamps have been issued for baseball and basketball); and for the 11th International Botanical Congress.

No dates or place of first day of issue have as yet been assigned. Collectors are wondering if 1969 will be the year the Post Office Department will keep within its policy to issue only 15 Commemoratives in a year.

The Junior Division of the Pocono Mountain Philatelic Society are working on the plans for their ninth annual exhibit and starting to get busy on their entries. They hope many collectors are planning to have entries in this exhibit and if you are now is the time to start getting the stamps and thoughts together.

Three prizes will be awarded in both the junior and intermediate divisions and certificates in the senior class. More and detailed information will be given later. You have until February to get your entry ready, but start now.

Due to a meeting of the Board of Governors of the Eastern Penn. Association of Stamp Clubs Sept. 17, at Allentown, the first meeting of the Pocono Mountain Philatelic Society will be held Tuesday, Sept. 10.

Our convention delegates

Roth leaning toward Humphrey in early stages of convention

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the third article in a four-part series dealing with delegates from the 15th District, including Monroe County, who are now attending the Democratic National Convention in Chicago.

Gerald I. Roth of Allentown, one of the three lawyers the 15th District elected as delegates to the Democratic Convention, said he is "leaning" toward Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for the party's presidential candidate.

A former professor at the University of California Los Angeles Law School, Roth has been active in local democratic politics the past nine years. He is currently working to raise funds and organize support for Rep. Fred B. Rooney and Judge William Cercone, who is running for election to the Superior Court.

As Roth explains it, there are negative and positive reasons for his "leaning" toward the vice president.

Negative reason

Among the negative reasons is the fact candidate Eugene J. McCarthy has come into Pennsylvania only three times since he entered the race last November, twice for only a few hours.

On the other hand, Roth has met Humphrey four times now. "How in the world does he (McCarthy) expect to get the Pennsylvania delegation when he ignores it completely," asked Roth.

He is all the more puzzled by McCarthy's tactics because the Minnesota senator is said to consider Pennsylvania one of the key delegations in his own campaign strategy.

Gerald I. Roth

McCarthy also seems to Roth to be a "one issue candidate," the issue being the Vietnam war.

"I can't generate a great deal of enthusiasm for a one issue candidate," Roth remarked.

The Allentown lawyer also questions McCarthy's credentials for the job he is seeking. He remarked that the Minnesota candidate had taught and been in the Senate but never had any experience in administration.

Roth lists as one positive reason for his leaning toward Humphrey the fact that long before he became vice president he had an image of a democratic liberal. "In the sense of a Franklin D. Roosevelt liberal."

"He's a Democrat not only in a capital D sense but in a small d sense," Roth said.

Loss of image

He admitted, however, that Humphrey had suffered a loss of image under President Johnson.

"He (Humphrey) has to re-establish his image as a liberal," Roth remarked.

The Allentown lawyer acknowledged the desire for a change among Americans this year, but he asserted that Humphrey was in fact a change from the Johnson administration. He predicted that this would become clearer after the convention, if Humphrey became the party's presidential candidate.

Of the issue of the Vietnam war, Roth indicated he favored negotiations to end what he called a "mistake" on the part of the United States.

"I do believe you have to attempt to negotiate based on fairness to all parties, including the North Vietnamese and the Vietcong," he said.

But he added that he did not favor unilateral withdrawal "leading to a vacuum and a chaotic situation," or even a total cessation of the bombing of North Vietnam "without some act of reciprocity" from Hanoi.

Can't walk away

"You just can't pick up your marbles and walk away," Roth said of American policy toward Vietnam.

On the issue of civil disorders, Roth disagrees with those who advocate shooting at looters but condemns the act of looting as well.

"Certainly I believe in the rule and the enforcement of law. But property value is not higher than the value of life," he remarked.

Like other delegates from the 15th district, of which Monroe County is a member, Roth has been getting a lot of mail. And like the others, a high proportion, 90 percent in his case, comes from supporters of McCarthy.

Allen - Goldsmith Report

McCarthy loses cool

CHICAGO — Senator Eugene McCarthy lost his vaunted philosophical cool and bawled out his chief policy formulator and policy manipulator.

This backstage explosion occurred when the "peace" presidential candidate curtly cancelled a press conference arranged for him by Richard Goodwin without McCarthy's knowledge or permission.

Goodwin, a long-time Kennedy brain-truster and ghost-writer, was active in persuading McCarthy to run for president. Later, when the late Senator Robert Kennedy entered the fray, Goodwin switched to him. Following his death, Goodwin went back to McCarthy and became one of his closest policy advisers and chief publicity manipulator.

The day after Russia's surprise armed seizure of Czechoslovakia, Goodwin scheduled a press conference for McCarthy. The first the senator learned of it was when he encountered a reporter who asked if he intended to talk about the new crisis.

Hurrying back to his office, McCarthy summoned Goodwin and ordered him to immediately cancel the press conference. He also gave him a stern lecture.

"When I want to hold a press conference," McCarthy sharply told Goodwin, "I'll let you know and you can announce it. Until I do that, neither you nor anyone else is to arrange such conferences. I alone will decide when I want a press conference, and I will not tolerate you or anyone else doing that for me. I am perfectly capable of making my own decisions, and I propose to do so without any interference or meddling from you or anyone else."

Goodwin is not popular with other McCarthy leaders. They have bridled at his vaunting ego, conspiratorial maneuvering, vehement "peace" views and strident liberalism. Some McCarthyites have pointedly advised him to curb Goodwin, recalling that the late President Kennedy eased him out of the White House after a few months and that his brother Bobby kept Goodwin at arm's length.

But until McCarthy bawled out Goodwin for scheduling a press conference without his knowledge, Goodwin had become the principal policy formulator. The extremist "peace" plank on Vietnam that McCarthy espoused for the Democratic platform was largely drafted by Goodwin.

Also, Goodwin was one of the chief organizers of the so-called "peace coalition" of anti-Vietnam forces to draft a plank and battle in the convention for its inclusion in the Democratic platform. Goodwin is active in this movement with McCarthy's approval.

Czechs not easy foe

WASHINGTON — Can the Red army bury the spirit and the will to freedom of the Czech people?

It is by no means certain that it can—unless the Kremlin is prepared to annex Czechoslovakia, man it with Russian officials backed by ruthless force, and repress every vestige of independence as the Chinese did in Tibet.

The frightened men in Moscow could do it this way and that would be one possible end of what they have so brutally begun.

Two things are clear: It is going to be a lot harder in Czechoslovakia to kill the spirit of the people and transform its government into a pliant Soviet tool than it was in Hungary.

It is going to be a lot harder this time to still the indignation and revulsion of nearly the entire non-Soviet world at Moscow's brazen willingness to turn its tanks and guns on a little nation whose only "crime" is that its own Communist regime wanted to give its people a bit more liberty.

Unlike Hungary, Czechoslovakia is thus far providing no collaborators to form a pseudo-Czech government willing to take its orders from Moscow. It will be painfully onerous to try to rule a brave, resistant, and resourceful people with hated Soviet proconsuls at the top.

No throttle of voice Unlike Hungary, the invading Russians were not able to throttle the voices or suppress the institutions of the elected government.

Thus, while the voice of the Kremlin was proclaiming that its occupying troops were "requested by the government" of Czechoslovakia, the Czech national assembly instantly repudiated this claim as without any basis whatsoever.

Thus, while Moscow was assuring the world that the occupying forces would be withdrawn "whenever the lawful authorities" of Czechoslovakia decided they were no longer needed, the lawful authorities of the nation demanding their immediate withdrawal on the grounds that they were never needed and never wanted.

Thus, while the Soviet ambassador to the United Nations was assuring the Security Council that "the lawful authorities" wanted Soviet troops to protect them "from an imperialist plot," the lawful Czech foreign minister was directing the lawful Czech ambassador to the U.N. to ask the Security Council to help "remove the foreign troops."

The Kremlin's ease for invading the Czech nation could not have been more conclusively exposed. It was a lie which fell before the truth from those qualified to speak the truth.

McCarthy hurt

Fortunately, President Johnson, Vice President Humphrey, and Richard Nixon did not feel as inhibited in speaking out against Moscow's renewal of the cold war in its worst form as did Senator Eugene McCarthy. The President called upon the government and peoples of the world to support his appeal for the withdrawal of the invading troops.

McCarthy criticized the president for "exaggerating" the crisis, said he thought it was only a mini-crisis, and argued that it was "difficult to raise a serious protest against the Russian invasion" because of our role in South Vietnam.

Think that one over

The Soviets are jailing the elected leaders of Czechoslovakia, are acting to snuff out the lawful Czech government to prevent it from carrying out liberal domestic reform.

The U.S. is not acting to snuff out any government in Vietnam, neither Hanoi's nor Saigon's. It is acting to secure self-determination for the people of South Vietnam rather than to have it taken from them.

If Senator McCarthy sees these two actions as so much alike that he can't "raise a serious protest against the Russian invasion" — well, that's revealing.

ARE VITAMINS necessary during the summer months when there are fewer colds and infections?

The use of vitamins during any of the four seasons can almost always be eliminated if the diet is a normal, nutritious one. The only exception to this rule is that vitamins are valuable as a supplement in infants, young growing children, the elderly and those recovering from protracted illnesses.

There are some known medical conditions which are associated with, caused by, or related to vitamin deficiency. Pernicious anemia is such a disorder which can be controlled by the sustained use of vitamin B 12. When there is a deficiency, additional vitamins should be used throughout the year to be certain that the vitamin needs of the body are sufficient.

The body has a remarkable built in "vitamin fuse" which prevents it from being overloaded by unnecessary, expensive vitamins. The body simply discards all that it does not need. Severs all over the country are flooded with excess vitamins, the cost of which is astronomical and would serve a greater purpose if it were in the bank of the purchaser.

There is no doubt that the frequency of colds is less in the summer time and that the need for vitamins may be less than in the winter time. Vitamin D is particularly unnecessary, since the sun's rays beating on normal skin produces it in sufficient quantity to maintain good health. With your doctor's help, you and millions of other "vitamin-poppers" can resist the high pitched, pressurized sales of vitamins and health foods that are often so "healthy" for the pocketbook of the salesman.

Is the appendix still removed as often as it was formerly?

I have never known that "formerly" was ever a surgical indication for the removal of an appendix or for any surgery. There never was a style or any special distinction to having the appendix removed.

Surgery on the appendix is only performed when it is acutely inflamed or when there is pain and tenderness of the right lower quadrant of the abdomen that suggests an impending complication.

I would like to clarify one of the most distressing attitudes that confront doctors. Occasionally, a patient will say that a surgeon is knife happy or too quick with a knife. This does the patient and the doctor a great disservice. When there is an established, faithful relationship between doctor and patient, trust for the physician's good judgment is the only way to make it survive.

It rarely occurs to the patient that surgery may be the safest and easiest way to handle a case of suspected appendicitis, especially in people who have had more than one episode.

When the judgment of the doctor and the surgeon suggests that an appendix is acutely inflamed and that an operation is necessary, it frequently spares patients the dreaded complication of peritonitis, an infection of the delicate lining of the entire abdomen.

The diagnosis of acute appendicitis is a very difficult one, considering the number of other conditions that give similar symptoms and complaints.

Post Haste

To do something "post haste" is to do it with great speed and expedition.

The term is an allusion to the days when coaches drawn by teams of horses were the chief means of public transportation.

On long runs there were a number of stations, or "posts," set up along the route to provide fresh teams of horses — in order to speed the coaches on their way with their cargoes of passengers and mail.

Forest inspection by air saves many months of work

By ELLIOT BROWN

Pocono Record Reporter
OVER-THE-POCONOS — A four-seat green and white Cessna 185, flying about 1,000 feet above the Poconos, saved men from the Pennsylvania Dept. of Forestry "months and months" of work in their semi-annual insect and disease surveillance Wednesday.

Jacob Kintz and Bruce Vandegrift, service foresters in the local district, along with pilot Jack Hine, of the Stroudsburg Pocono Airport and this reporter, flew over about 512 square miles of Monroe and Pike County forest in just over two hours.

The foresters were looking for tree "mortality" and insect damage. Unfortunately, although not unexpectedly, they found some of it.

Wednesday was a beautiful day for flying, discounting a little wind. Visibility was excellent, which was heartening to the foresters who had had to cancel Tuesday's flight due to heavy mist.

Flight lines are plotted on terrain maps, and these are what the pilot must follow in order to assure a complete surveillance of the area. Kintz sat on the right side of the plane and Vandegrift on the left. Both were to watch the forest for about a mile on their side.

When visibility is poor, not only is it difficult to see the necessary mile, but the pilot is unable to find his checkpoints and stay on the right course. On a good day, however, seeing a mile from the air is as easy as looking into your backyard.

Forest from the air looks totally different from forest on the ground. The trees by no means present a solid green cover, but rather are different shades of green, brown, black and gray.

Also, the forests are interrupted by lakes, fields, farms and towns. But still, if one knows what to look for it's not hard to recognize a troubled area of trees. The things to look for, Kintz said, are diminished leaf density and bad coloration.

Mortality rates have been rather high for the past few years, particularly because of the long drought. Oak Leaf Roller disease has also affected many trees, about 400,000 acres of mixed oak types have been destroyed.

Another blight causing heavy defoliation is a one-and-one-half inch caterpillar known as the "Saddled Prominent."

It gets its name from a reddish mark in the middle of its back shaped like a saddle. Hard hit by it have been Northern Hardwoods such as beech, birch and maple.

Kintz said he was working in an area near Newfoundland where there were so many of the insects chewing, the "frass" they were dropping "sounded like rain." Both observers found evidence of the "Saddled Prominent" during Wednesday's surveillance.

Generally from the air the trained observers can recognize what is wrong with a troubled area. When this is not possible, Kintz said, they inspect the area on foot or by vehicle to decide what is the matter.

If the cause still can't be determined, the area foresters send samples to the department's laboratories in Harrisburg.

Vandegrift spotted one area about a mile south of Kunkletown along the ridge which was defoliated and he said he would inspect from the ground. "The chances are year after year of defoliation have killed these trees," he said, "but I really won't know until I see it."

Vandegrift, with a great deal of disgust in his voice, pointed to the site of an intentionally set fire which burned about six acres of forest near McMichaels last spring. The blotch of brown looks far out of place in its green surroundings.

The men also spotted some mortality in the Effort area, and some light defoliation near the Tobyhanna Signal Depot. Some moderate mortality was in evidence near McMichaels.

Kintz and Vandegrift will spend about 12 flying hours inspecting all the forest in Monroe, Northampton and Pike counties. On the ground, it would take a crew of men an immense amount of time to do the same job.

Pennsylvania, Kintz said, is one of the most advanced states in the nation as far as using modern means to protect its forest. He said his department has been flying surveillance in June and August for five years. Besides that, aircraft are used for fire detection and fighting.

It's sort of a way of making the "Wild Blue Yonder" help keep the "Wild Green Yonder" wild and green.

Exchange pupil speaks to Rotarians

STROUDSBURG — The regular weekly meeting of the Stroudsburg Rotary Club was held Thursday at the Penn Stroud Hotel.

President Richard M. Frantz reported on the Directors Meeting and gave a report on the auction which is to be held on October 28.

A committee was appointed for a fashion show.

Program Chairman Alex L. Bensinger introduced the guest speaker, Steven Cortwright, the Rotary Club's exchange student who had returned from Sala Sweden, a town of 12,000.

Story of reaction
Cortwright told of the reaction of the people after the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King and Senator Robert F. Kennedy.

According to Cortwright, their conclusion was that there was something wrong with America and for some time after these incidents, they did not send any exchange students to our country.

Cortwright stated one difference between our country and Sweden was that in Sweden it was perfectly safe to walk down back alleys. He followed his talk by showing slides of Sweden.

Visiting Rotarians at Thursday's meeting and luncheon were Barney Wyckoff, Amherst, Va., Charles Schlegel, Allentown; Eli Cooper, York; Harlan Howe, Toledo, O.; Irvin Reese, Pocono Mountain, STROUD TWP.—Richard J. and Joyce Houser, Stroud Twp. to Robert J. and Sharon F. Thomas, East Stroudsburg, R.D. 1.

Water supply part of area growth

By BOB GOFF

Pocono Record Reporter
STROUDSBURG — The Stroudsburg Municipal Authority's decision to construct an addition to the water treatment plant has been a major step in seeing that an adequate supply of water is on hand until the year 2010.

The Authority's decision to float a 30-year, $713,355 bond issue and put up $120,000 of its own cash-on-hand for the construction was dictated by two major problems.

The first problem was simply that the present plant could not handle the demand of the present consumers, much less the demands which will be made in the future by an ever-increasing number of new residents.

The second problem was the necessity of having an adequate supply of water necessary to attract potential industry to the area served by the Municipal Authority.

The service area of the Authority includes all of the Borough of Stroudsburg together with the areas adjacent to Stroudsburg in Stroud Township.

At the next meeting of the Authority on September 9, the contracts will be awarded to the lowest bidders.

At that time it is expected that an announcement will be made as to when the actual construction will begin. Informal sources indicated that the ground-breaking should take place shortly after Sept. 9.

The new facilities, in the form of a three-story building, will be added as an expansion of the existing plant on Broadhead Creek. The ground floor will house enlarged filters and two additional filters. The second floor will contain the pumps and the third floor will consist of the clear well.

A new intake line will be added parallel to the existing line in Broadhead Creek with the addition of a continuous water screen and new raw water pumps.

Bids for the construction were received by the Authority on July 29. The lowest bid for the structural work was made by the firm of L. W. Hunsicker, Whitehall, Pa.

The lowest bid for the mechanical work for the plant was made by Roberts Filter Mfg. Co., Darby, Pa., and the lowest bid for the electrical work was made by John R. Walker, Chalfonte.

The Authority received no bids for the heating and ventilating work and this still remains somewhat of a serious problem. It was decided that an attempt would be made to obtain a negotiated price between Hunsicker and Roberts to complete the job.

At the present time, the plant is pumping between 1.8 million gallons of water per day and 2 million gallons per day. Pumping 2 m.g.d., according to William Curnow, Stroudsburg water superintendent, exceeds the capacity of the plant and overworks the filtration system.

The addition of new pumps, filters and enlarged filters will increase the capacity of the plant to 1.58 m.g.d., when operated at standard rate filtration and 3.2 m.g.d.

Since the Authority has obtained a permit from the Delaware River Basin Commission to draw a maximum of 3.2 m.g.d. from Broadhead Creek and one m.g.d. from Stokes Mill Spring, the plant will have the capacity of 4.2 m.g.d. This is double the amount of the current output.

The consulting engineering firm of Albright and Friel Associates, Philadelphia, estimated the annual operating expenses for the water system, including Authority costs, to be $57,900 in 1968 based on the current year budget. This figure will continue to rise until it reaches a high of $100,000 in 1977.

Before plunging headlong into the new construction venture, and in an effort to see how the plant would be paid for, the consulting engineers made a study on current revenue of the water company and the projected revenue.

For the year ending December 31, 1967, the revenue was $175,381. This was from 4,126 flat rate customers, 92 metered customers and two public fire service consumers.

It was decided that it was a necessity to increase the revenue to help pay off the cost of the addition and the operating costs of the plant.

To do this, the Authority adopted a new schedule of rates which will become effective on January 1, 1969.

In most cases the new rates will exceed the present rates on individual items from 15 to 20 per cent.

The estimated revenues from the consumers under the new rate schedule, together with a new fixture count and the elimination of the 5 per cent prompt payment discount, will be $227,890, an increase of $52,508, or approximately 30 per cent over the present revenue.

As one member of the Authority explained, a rate increase of 15 to 20 per cent seems to be a great increase at first glance, but when everything is figured out, the average customer will find his water bill increased only by approximately 42 cents a month.

In most places, a pack of cigarettes costs nearly that much. That seems to be a small price to pay for increased water service and that includes the removal of limitations on when a customer can water his lawn during the summer, a problem which he now faces.

Like a happy ending? This story has one

STROUDSBURG — Some stories have happy endings. The setting for this particular happy ending was the great Kresge reunion held at Weir Lake last weekend.

The family reunion and one man's interest in family history reunited a father and son who had not seen each other or known where to find each other for 46 years.

The prime mover in the complicated plot was Clarence A. Hawk, an insurance man from Cherryville, Pa., who is a Kresge descendant and in his travels is always trying to fit the Kresges in that area into the family genealogy.

He was acquainted with Theodore Kresge in Los Angeles, Cal., whose sister is Mrs. Pearl Lee of the Lenape Apartments in Stroudsburg, so when Hawk was in Stroudsburg he called on Mrs. Lee to talk family history.

On the same errand when he was in Houston, Texas, he called on Floyd Kresge who was listed in the phone book there. Floyd didn't know where his father was, since they had lost track of each other for 46 years.

Of the family background he knew only that his father's name was Theodore and that he had had a sister Elsie who lived in Fairbanks, Alaska.

That was enough information for Clarence Hawk, with his book of Kresges. Elsie who lived in Alaska and Theodore were the children of James Kresge, and so was Mrs. Pearl Lee of Stroudsburg.

Floyd Kresge then flew his plane from Houston to Los Angeles, met the father he hadn't seen for all those years, flew him back to Houston, and with his wife they made the long trip to the Kresge reunion at Weir Lake.

It was a big occasion for Theodore Kresge, at 86 who not only won the prize for the oldest man at the reunion but also the prize for coming the farthest distance to attend.

The happy ending didn't stop there. The reunited father and son liked each other so much that the elder Kresge is moving to Houston to make his home with his son.

Mrs. Sun On Ng

Virginia Batchler is local bride

BRODHEADSVILLE — Miss Virginia Batchler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Batchler of Brodheadsville, became the bride of Sun On Ng of Nyack, N.Y.

Rev. L.W. Drury officiated at the 2:30 p.m. ceremony at the Wesley Church, Stroudsburg. The altar was decorated with baskets of white gladioli and poinsettias.

Mrs. Olga Weidlich was organist and during the ceremony the bride and bridegroom sang a duet, "Saviour, Like a Shepherd Lead Us."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of lace over satin with a portrait neckline and long sleeves. A chapel train fell from the empire waistline. She wore a matching headpiece with an elbow length veil of illusion. She carried an orchid with sweetheart roses on a white ribbon.

Miss Joanne Hedgcock of Suffern, N.Y., was maid of honor. She wore a pastel blue gown with an empire bodice of lace over satin and a skirt of blue chiffon over satin. She carried three long stemmed yellow roses and fern.

Bridesmaids were Miss Glenda Batchler, Brodheadsville and Miss Ruth Batchler of Sciota, nieces of the bride. They wore gowns similar to the maid of honor's in blue lace, taffeta and chiffon and carried two long-stemmed yellow roses.

Joan Batchler of Sciota was flower girl. She wore a pale blue dress with a bodice of lace over taffeta and carried a nosegay of roses.

David Hanson of Nyack, N.Y., was best man. Ushers were Richard Hersey of New York City, N.Y., and Daniel Chabra of Weir Lake.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Batchler wore a pastel pink gown with lace over satin with pink and white accessories. She wore a corsage of pink and white carnations and roses.

A reception for 150 guests was held at the YMCA.

Leaving for their wedding trip, the bride wore a lime green double knit dress with white accessories. She wore a white orchid corsage.

After a honeymoon on Cape Cod, Mass., and the New England States, the couple will reside at 202 South Blvd. Nyack, N.Y.

The bride is a 1967 graduate of Roberts Wesleyan College and teaches music in Ramapo No. 1 School District, Suffern, N.Y.

Her husband was graduated from Nyack Missionary College in 1964 and is employed at the college.

William F. Bisbing wed in Charleston

Schools big problem

NEW SCHOOL: (Q.) At our church school I got into the "in" group my freshman year because one of the popular girls used me to deliver notes to her boy friend.

I knew I was being used, but now am pretty well accepted by the clique. The "in" girls like me for what I am — not because I delivered letters.

I've dropped in status this summer because I only see the girls at our private pool. One of them will start to go to public high school this fall. I want to go, too. I would be free of the clique and I know the girls school is a financial strain on my parents. Mother says I want to change only to be around boys.

— B. of Omaha, Neb.

(A.) Life is full of cliques. If you change to a public school, you will find them there, too. But you do sound mature enough for a boy-girl school, and I'm sure your mother realizes it's perfectly normal for a girl to want to be around boys.

Whichever school it is, you should get along well. No matter where you are, it's — as you put it — what you are that eventually counts. In your freshman year you demonstrated that you're O.K.

DAMP PAW: (Q.) When I hold a girl's hand, my hand gets like a wet dishrag in two minutes. The girl can't stand to hold it. This can ruin a whole movie date — a whole evening, in fact.

Picnic turns into open house

STROUDSBURG — For years, the traditional picnic site of MORA Club and Leisure Hour Club has been Monroe County's Pine Flats Pavilion.

This year's outdoor event scored an Open House feature as members shared the inspection of the refurbished place with its picnic setting.

Pine Flats Assn. was represented by its trustees and ladies with Mr. and Mrs. H.E. Werkheiser, whose summer place is near-by, as hosts.

Nearly 70 persons attended with the oldest trio averaging 88 years, including Werkheiser, C.A. Keiper and J.W. Shaffer.

Youngest members The youngest members present was Patti Fitzgerald, four and one-half years old. Distant guest was Henry Wegman, former New York police officer.

The day's finale was a song-fest, the "Music Muse", carrying to the "welcoming" songs on the bus trip home.

Walnutport youth killed on highway

PALMERTON — A 17-year-old Walnutport R.D. 2 youth was killed Saturday at 9:45 p.m. when he was struck by a car as he rode his bicycle along Rt. 284, one half mile south of Palmerton.

State Police at Lehighton identified the youth as Theodore Raymond Meekes.

William Weyhenmeyer, Carbon County deputy coroner, said death was caused by multiple internal injuries, including a fractured skull.

Police identified the driver of the car as Thomas A. Litak, 35, of 749 Railroad St., Allentown.

Litak told police that he did not see the boy and the first that he knew he had struck something was when he heard a thump coming from the vicinity of the right front of his car.

Force of the impact knocked the boy approximately 150 feet and he landed under a steel guard rail.

Litak was traveling on a 60-mile-per-hour limited access highway, and police said he could have been traveling that fast.

The boy was dead on arrival at Palmerton Hospital and was pronounced dead by a hospital physician.

Newark man pays $100 fine

EAST STROUDSBURG — Jack Tuttlehill, 1090 Broad St., Newark, N.J., charged by East Stroudsburg Police with disorderly conduct, paid $100 fine plus costs before East Stroudsburg Justice of the Peace H. D. Larison Sr. Saturday.

Tuttlehill was arrested August 23.

JACK O'BRIAN'S

New York's Voice of Broadway

NEW YORK — Harold Gary deservedly won the best reviews of anyone in "The Price" including the play itself, after hopping into the role at the last moment when David Burns was hospitalized.

Harold proved an uncommon Broadway actor and gentleman by insisting on stepping out when Burns got well enough to take back the role.

Harold's happy ending — a running role in the long-term (17 years) TV soap opera "Search for Tomorrow."

Warren Reatty's corporate take-home from "Bonnie and Clyde" is over $6½ million already.

Arthur Penn's Bonnie slice: $2,300,000. The networks and politicians will picture and pick a Dem. candidate under all-time trouble: seven simultaneous Chicago strikes including cabs and film editors.

Network cables already have been cut, criminally. NBC's open suspicion why Gene McCarthy cancelled off NBC's "Meet The Press" (Heddlily busy elsewhere) but opted to appear on the same day's CBS chattering "Face The Nation": said the NBC official, "McCarthy already has stated he wants CBS President Frank Stanton for his treasury secretary."

Pension payments high to county residents

(Special to the Record) STROUDSBURG — How much are Monroe County residents now receiving from Washington each month in the form of pension checks?

How do these checks compare in size with those going to people in other sections of the country?

According to the official figures, released by the Social Security Administration, the pension payments in the local area are relatively high.

They are higher, also, than they were at this time last year, due to the increases that went into effect in February.

Currently, it is shown, payments to Monroe County beneficiaries are at the rate of $1,055 per year.

This is more than is going to recipients in most parts of the United States, the average being $1,001 per year.

Past earnings The amount that goes to a pensioner, or to his family, is determined by his past earnings and by the contributions he has made to the retirement fund during his working years.

The reason that pension payments are running higher for local residents than for those elsewhere is due to the fact that their incomes have been higher, on average.

Entitled to receive pension checks, under the insurance program of the Social Security system, are retired or disabled workers and their dependents.

The report shows that there were some 6,201 persons in Monroe County, as of March 1, who were receiving pension payments. By way of comparison, the number was 4,880 five years ago.

Frequent revisions Because of frequent revisions of the law, the amounts paid out in benefits, as well as the number of people covered, have been constantly expanding.

The latest changes by congress increased the monthly payments by about 13 percent over what they were last year.

The figures show that no less than $6,649,000 a year is now entering the county via the Social Security route. Five years ago the total was $4,694,000.

On the other side of the ledger, the Social Security tax rate is unchanged from last year—4.4 per cent for both employers and employees—but the taxable wage base is $7,800 this year, up from $6,600 in 1967.

Slagle. He's blind . . . HHH quotes: "I believe a few good doctors with a modern clinic can do more than a dozen medical men in their own individual offices." . . . Well we don't.

Wayne Morse's Oregon advisers feel a scary anti-wave . . . Skitch Henderson pitching for "The New Yorkers" TV-show host job? . . . TV's "Laugh-in" clown Arte Johnson weds German beauty Gisela Busch any day.

It's our convinced notion that both British and American Actors Equities should grow up and let a free flow of talent cross the Atlantic at will . . . Stage shows aren't big business; they're a collection of small and precarious artistic businesses whose mutual freedom would cancel out stupid union fears. Americans could be used in our exported musical comedies and indigenous Yankee plays while English performers would improve the many British imports which are keeping our N.Y. drama alive.

And nothing is more ridiculous on either side of the pond than productions shrieking for authenticity with roles being imitated rather than stage-lived . . . As in many fields, labor which once was a most progressive element in business has become the most regressive, reactionary, as the victims of five recent N.Y. City dead-newspapers alone can testify.

ENEMAS ARE NOT HARMFUL

According to Dr. Walter Alvarez, Emeritus Consultant to the Mayo Clinic, in his half century of a busy practice, he has never seen a person harmed by enemas. When taking an enema, put a tablespoon of salt into the bagful of water. This lessens any irritation.

Daily bowel movements are not essential to better health, except for people with a so-called mucous colitis. Some have a large bowel which is too sensitive for comfort, without a daily evacuation. We have a complete variety of enema bags and cans.

Two women hurt in crash

FERN RIDGE — Two Pittston women were slightly injured Saturday at 4:10 p.m. in a one-car crash on Rt. 115 in Kidder Township, State Police at Fern Ridge said.

Injured were Sara Gigliello, and Sara Amico, 55. Both were taken to Mercy Hospital in Wilkes-Barre for treatment. They were passengers in a car driven by Patrick J. Gigliello.

Police said the car skidded on the rain-soaked highway, spun around and crashed into the guard rail.

The carnival, which starts at 1 p.m., will feature such games as Penny Pitch, Bean-Bag-Toss, Canadian Woodsman, and Pie Toss.

Related diseases All proceeds will go to aid the fight against muscular dystrophy and related diseases which afflict millions.

The children got the idea for staging their event while watching television personality Bob McAllister who is promoting carnivals on his "Wonderama" children's show.

Last year, in cooperation with Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, more than 20,339 carnivals were held by children across the country, and more than $345,862 was raised for MDAA's research and patient service programs.

Auto accident responsible for husband-wife lab team

EAST STROUDSBURG — An automobile accident, a long period of recuperation, and a sharing of interests between husband and wife have led Mr. and Mrs. Gene Morris of East Stroudsburg R.D. 1 into the science of histology.

Five years ago, when Gene Morris was confined to a wheelchair for the rest of his life as a result of a car crash, much of his time was spent in the General Hospital of Monroe County.

While a patient, according to Dr. Moses J. Leitner, chief pathologist, Morris took such an interest in the laboratories that Dr. James Fahl suggested training him.

Special facilities

The hospital provided special facilities on which Morris could train, Dr. Leitner said, and he was taught by J. Barry Howells, now chief technician at the hospital.

A histologist prepares very thin sections of various body tissues for microscopic examination, Dr. Leitner said. The work involves cutting material to a thickness of 1-5,000 of an inch.

Morris completed his course in a year. The former laborer's work, Dr. Leitner said, was "particularly good. He has good aptitude and good hands."

His wife, Marybell, to whom he has been married since 1959, came into the science picture as a result of Morris' success in the field.

She accompanied him as he toured Walter Reed Army Hospital, and hospitals at the University of Pennsylvania, Allentown and Easton, to see other histology labs and methods.

In 1966, she became a student trained by her husband and her certificate from the Registry of Medical Technologists of the American Society of Clinical Pathologists is on its way to her now.

In the field of histology, perhaps the General Hospital of Monroe County has a rarity in its husband-wife team.

Republican ladies plan series of conferences

HARRISBURG — The Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women have announced plans to get the Nixon-Agnew campaign in Pennsylvania off to a fast start with a series of September "political activities conferences."

The council plans to hold seven regional conferences between September 10 and 20, which will open the door to a concerted drive by the women in behalf of our national and statewide nominees and our district candidates for Congress, State Senate and House of Representatives," according to Mrs. George J. Thack, Council's State president.

Area meeting
Monroe County Republican Women will attend the Northeast regional conference on Tuesday, Sept. 17, at Briar Heights Lodge, Route 11, Berwick, along with members from Bradford, Carbon, Columbia, Lackawanna, Luzerne, Pike, Sullivan, Susquehanna, Wayne and Wyoming counties.

The Northeast conference chairman is Mrs. A. C. Morgan, Berwick. Registrations at $3.50 are to be made by September 12 with Mrs. Gladys Lewis, 254 Hughes St., Berwick 18603.

The seven regional conferences, which will include women of all 67 counties, will be devoted to panels or workshops starting at 10 a.m., with luncheon at 12:30 p.m. Candidates generally will speak at the luncheon or afternoon session.

Morning participants will include Mrs. Thack, Mrs. L. B. Gezon, the Council's State political activities chairman, Mrs. Peter K. Honaman, vice chairman of the Republican State Committee, Miss Sara Ann Stauffer, Pennsylvania member of the Republican National Committee, and person prominent in the region in which the conference is being held.

Complaints filed in two bill cases

STROUDSBURG — Two complaints were filed in the Monroe County Courthouse Friday.

Silver Line Inc., Wind Gap, is seeking a judgement of $236.81 plus interest from December 10, 1967, from David Fleischman, Fleischman Sportswear Co., Stroudsburg R.D. 2, for materials and certain amounts of work done for Fleischman.

Southern Porcelain, a division of Verson Manufacturing Co., Dallas, Tex., filed for a judgement of $278.31 for materials supplied and work performed for Earl L. Berry and Walter E. Hoffman Jr., co-partners of the Pocono Service and Supply Co., previously in business at 220 Main St., Stroudsburg.

Servicemen's corner

USS AMERICA — Machinist Mate Fireman Apprentice Darryl A. Frasier, United States Navy, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Blake Frasier of Canadensis, is serving aboard the U. S. Navy's newest attack aircraft carrier, the USS America.

As a crew member, he is helping to provide air support to U. S. and Allied ground forces in South Vietnam.

The America is operating as a part of the U. S. Seventh Fleet on Yankee Station in the Gulf of Tonkin.

The Seventh Fleet patrols nearly one-fifth of the earth's surface and consists of more than 190 ships and 300 airplanes.

CHU LAI, VIETNAM — Army Specialist Four James A. Hane, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Hane, Blairstown, N.J., has been assigned as a helicopter crew chief in the Americal Division near Chu Lai, Vietnam.

His wife, Patricia, lives in Tannersville.

WRIGHTSTOWN, N.J. — Sergeant James E. Findlay, brother of Mrs. Henry R. Emery, Pine Acres, Milford, has arrived for duty at McGuire Air Force Base, N.J.

Findlay, a fuels specialist, is assigned to a unit of the Military Aircraft Command. He previously served at Takhli Royal Thai AFB, Thailand.

The sergeant graduated from high school in Matamoras.

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. — Airman William H. Ferris, son of Mrs. Edward Majewski of Tobyhanna, has been graduated from a United States Air Force technical school at Sheppard Air Force Base, Tex.

He was trained as an aircraft mechanic and has been assigned to a unit of the Military Aircraft Command at McGuire AFB, N.J.

The airman is a graduate of Mount Pleasant High School, Schenectady, N.Y.

His father, Harold Ferris, lives at 1320 State St., Schenectady.

LONG BINH, VIETNAM — Army Specialist Four Michael A. Counterman, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Counterman, 1734 Pokona Ave., Stroudsburg, has been assigned as a mechanic in the 185th Maintenance Battalion near Long Binh, Vietnam.

ADAK, ALASKA — Fireman Apprentice Newton C. Taylor III, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Newton C. Taylor Jr. of East Stroudsburg R.D. 2, is serving aboard the Coast Guard Cutter Balsam (WLB-62) homeported in Adak, Alaska.

As a member of the crew, he recently returned to Adak after performing the Balsam's primary mission of servicing aids to navigation along the western coast of Alaska. Also included on the journey was ice-breaking in the Chukchi Sea and a 10 day fisheries patrol in the Bristol Bay area.

Gary Wilson

FALMOUTH, Mass. — Gary R. Wilson, son of Mrs. Ruth A. Wilson of 205 Schauk Ave., Pen Argyl, is participating in a United States Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps (AFROTC) field training encampment at Otis Air Force Base, Mass.

During the encampment, cadets become familiar with the life and activities on Air Force bases and can examine career opportunities in which they might wish to serve as officers.

Other highlights of the course include survival training, aircraft and aircrew indoctrination, small arms training and visits to other air force bases.

Wilson, a graduate of Pen Argyl High School, is a member of the AFROTC unit at Pennsylvania State University.

MOUNT POCONO — Bruce D. Curnoles, son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Curnoles, Grange Road, Mount Pocono, was enlisted into the United States Coast Guard on August 19 at the Coast Guard Recruiting Office in Wilkes-Barre for four years active duty.

Curnoles will report to the Coast Guard Recruit Training Center, Cape May, N.J., for nine weeks recruit training.

The graduate of Pocono Mountain High School was formerly employed by Pocono Crest, Pocono Pines.

GUAM — Douglas W. Jennings, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Jennings of Delaware Water Gap, has been promoted to sergeant at ceremonies at his Air Force station on Guam.

He is a crew chief on a B-52 and this is his second tour overseas.

Sgt. Jennings is a 1965 graduate of Stroudsburg High School and was employed at Ronson Corp., Delaware Water Gap, before enlisting in the United States Air Force.

VIETNAM — Gary C. Weidman, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Weidman of East Stroudsburg R.D. 2, has recently been promoted to SP 5.

Weidman is serving with an engineer battalion attached to the 196th Light Inf. Brg.

He is scheduled to return to America in November.

Indian lore key to meeting

POCONO SUMMIT — Clyde Miller, Pocono Pines, was the guest speaker at a recent meeting of the Pocono Lake Preserve residents.

Along with an entertaining talk, Miller showed the audience a choice selection of Indian artifacts from a large collection which he has accumulated over the years in the Pocono Pines area.

Before the lecture, Miller, a student of the Indian Civilization, demonstrated the technique of making flint arrowheads in the Indian manner.

Also noted for his collection of matched deer horns and his woodlore, Miller's wide range of interest was further demonstrated by an assortment of minerals and miscellany ranging from beaver teeth to "rabbit horns."

OUR HOUSE WAS ALWAYS DRAFTY UNTIL WE MODERNIZED WITH ELECTRIC HEAT. WHAT A WONDERFUL DIFFERENCE

One of the nice things about electric heat is that it's as comfortable at the toddler's level as it is at the parents'. The reason is that you can install high levels of insulation in a home with electric heat, thus cutting down on uncomfortable drafts. This means uniform heat and floor-to-ceiling comfort in each room of your home. And if you wish to adjust this level of comfort, individual room thermostats let you choose the heat you want for the room you're in . . . without disturbing other settings around the house.

Before your heating system gives you the chills next winter, call PP&L or a Reddy Kilowatt Recommended Electric Home Heating Dealer (listed in the Yellow Pages under "Heating") about the type of electric heat best suited to your needs.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By B. Jay Becker

The Third World Bridge Olympiad was played June 7 to 21 in Deauville, France. Thirty-three nations participated in the event.

Italy won the open team championship, once again asserting its supremacy in the world of bridge. The Italians have now won eleven world championships in their last twelve attempts.

The United States finished second, Canada third, and Holland fourth.

Each of the 33 countries in the open championship played a match of 20 deals against every other country during the qualifying rounds of the event. After twelve days of play, the four teams above, having accumulated the most victory points in the 32 matches they each played, became eligible to participate in the semifinal round of the tournament.

Expressed in victory points, the outcome of the round robin was: Italy, 474; U.S.A., 473; Holland, 460; Canada, 451; Australia, 444; Switzerland, 434; Belgium, 422; France, 415; Sweden, 406; Iceland, 382; Venezuela, 365; Austria, 352; Israel, 323; Finland, 314; Spain, 313; Argentina, 306; Chile, 301; Jamaica, 295; Thailand, 287; Kenya, 280; Egypt, 276; Denmark, 274; Brazil, 260; Germany, 252; South Africa, 244; Ireland, 244; Philippines, 224; Lebanon, 220; Bermuda, 216; Portugal, 199; Greece, 170; Dutch Antilles, 76; Mexico, 66.

A team winning a match by 30 or more international match points was awarded a 20 to 0 victory point score. Matches won by less than 30 mps yielded fewer victory points, in accordance with a sliding scale.

In the semifinals, Italy defeated Canada 171 mps to 120, while the U.S. team took the measure of Holland by 174 to 142. Italy then defeated the United States in the final round by 172 to 123 to win the championship.

Members of the victorious Italian team were: Walter Avarelli, Giorgio Belladonna, Mimmo D'Alelio, Camillo Pabis Tucci, Pietro Forquet and Benito Garozzo, with Angelo Trancanella as non-playing captain.

The United States team was composed of Robert Jordan, Arthur Robinson, Norman Kay, Edgar Kaplan, William Root and Alvin Roth, with Julius Rosenblum as non-playing captain and B. Jay Becker as coach.

The Women's Championship, with 19 nations participating, was conducted simultaneously with the open event. Sweden finished first, South Africa second, United States third, Italy fourth.

In all, 17,280 deals were played in the tournament. For the next few weeks, in this space, I will be reporting some of the most dramatic and interesting deals in the Olympiad. Not all these hands will be instructive, since aberrations of mind as well as brilliances will be included, but they will, I trust, reflect some of the savory flavor of a world championship.

Three people hurt in crash

FERN RIDGE — Three persons were injured Monday at 1 p.m. in a one-car accident on Rt. 940 about three miles east of Blakeslee. State Police at Fern Ridge said Monday.

Taken to Wilkes-Barre General Hospital, where they were treated and released, were Adela Shiner, 61, driver of the car; Richard Shiner, 61, both of Brooklyn, N.Y.; and Theresia Shiner, 49, Pocono Summit.

Police said the car was traveling west and apparently ran off the side of the highway. The driver lost control and the car crossed the highway and crashed into a wooded area.

Firemen called to car blaze

STROUDSBURG — Stroud Township firemen were called Monday at 3:20 p.m. to Stokes Mill Road to extinguish a car fire.

A spokesman for the company said only a small extinguisher was required.

Gilbert firm files complaints

STROUDSBURG — A two-count complaint was filed Monday in the Monroe County Courthouse by Allen D. White, of Allen D. White Welding Service, Gilbert.

The first count is against Clark H. George of Kresgeville, and concerns an allegation that George failed to meet with specifications of a contract when he built a house for White in Gilbert.

Costly repairs
White contends that it will cost $2,170 to pay for repairs and items which George did not include when he built the house.

The second count is against William and Rena Bumgartner, Kunkletown, R. D. 1. White furnished and installed stairs and a hall railing in the Bumgartner house and he is asking for balance of $180 which the Bumgartners have refused to pay, plus interest from April 1967.

Services held for Mrs. Pugh

EAST STROUDSBURG
Funeral services for Mrs. Isabel D. Pugh, 68, of 33 Stofflet St., Stroudsburg, were held Monday in Lanterman Funeral Home with the Rev. Norman R. Savage officiating.

Nellie E. Burd, 79, dies following lengthy illness

DELAWARE WATER GAP — Miss Nellie E. Burd, 79, of Delaware Water Gap, died Sunday in the General Hospital of Monroe County.

Miss Burd was born in New York and has lived in Delaware

Water Gap the past 72 years. For many years she had been a Delaware Water Gap correspondent for the Pocono Record.

She was a member of the Presbyterian Church of the Mountain, the Parent Teachers Assn., Delaware Water Gap Fire Company Ladies' Auxiliary and the Methodist Church WSCS, all in Delaware Water Gap.

She also taught a Sunday school class in the Christian Missionary Alliance Church, Stroudsburg.

Survivors include a foster son, Robert Kaiser, Delaware Water Gap, and one brother, John McMaster, East Orange, N. J.

Services will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the William H. Clark Funeral Home with the Rev. Norman Savage officiating.

Burial will be in Delaware Water Gap Cemetery. There will be no visitation.

Theodore Shoemaker, 79, succumbs in Stroudsburg

EAST STROUDSBURG — Theodore Shoemaker, 79, of 700 Main St., Stroudsburg, died Monday in the Veteran's Administration Hospital in Wilkes-Barre.

Born in Moscow, he was a son of the late James and Martha Price Shoemaker.

Mr. Shoemaker had lived most of his lifetime in Stroudsburg. He had been employed by Erie-Lackawanna Railroad for 50 years before he retired in 1960.

He was a veteran of World War I and was a member of George N. Kemp Post 345, American Legion, East Stroudsburg, and the Veterans of Foreign Wars in Washington, N.J. He was also a member of the Erie-Lackawanna Veterans Assn.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Helen Fabel, Stroudsburg, and Mrs. Elizabeth Zanchettin, Nazareth; and a brother, Earl Shoemaker, Norristown.

Services will be held Thursday at 1:30 p.m. in Lanterman Funeral Home.

Burial will be in Laurelwood Cemetery. Friends and relatives may call at the funeral home Wednesday after 7 p.m.

Heavy damage to truck, meat highlight spectacular crash

By JIM SHAFER
Pocono Record Reporter
STROUDSBURG — A 34-year-old Cleveland, Ohio, man is in the intensive care unit at the General Hospital of Monroe County after a sensational accident Monday at 2:10 a.m. on Interstate Rt. 80, just inside the borough limits.

Nelson E. Townsend was taken to the hospital shortly after the crash where a tractor-trailer was involved. Police said Townsend told them that another truck forced him off the highway as he traveled along the portion where Rt. 209 merges with Rt. 80. The big rig went off the highway onto the medial, crossed the medial strip, the three lanes of westbound traffic struck the guard rails and flipped over on its side.

The trailer came to rest near the top of the 80-foot embankment facing the direction from which it came. The tractor was at the bottom of the embankment facing up the hill.

Tire marks in the medial strip measure approximately 142 feet, black skid marks on the three-lane highway go another 150 feet. Guard rails in the area were torn up for approximately 150 feet.

Police believe that the rig was traveling straight until it hit the guard rail and then the trailer was whipped around. The cargo was 200 sides of beef and they were hung from rails in the ceiling of the trailer. When the trailer flipped much of the beef was thrown out on the ground.

Police believe that the meat, swung to the right, as a result of a quick turn, and caused the trailer to sway to the right.

When the weight shifted it could have caused the driver to take action to keep the rig continuing forward, police theorized.

William Quinn, superintendent of highways in Monroe County, estimated damage to the guard rails and curbing at $1,500.

"Understand that is an approximate cost and is a minimum figure," he added.

Heavy loss
The insurance inspector for the rig said the cargo is valued at $15,000 and the tractor-trailer in the neighborhood of $40,000.

The tractor and trailer were both a total loss and it was believed that most of the meat was saved.

The insurance inspector, who wished to remain unidentified, said, "Yes, we lost some of the meat, but right now I can not give any figure on percentage of meat lost or saved."

Police and workmen who removed the cargo and the wreckage were on the scene for more than 14 hours.

The torn and twisted remains of the tractor driven by Nelson Townsend are brought to the top of the embankment on Rt. 80 in Stroudsburg.

Commissioners to obtain tax list from Department of Revenue rolls

STROUDSBURG — In an effort to increase collection of the personal property tax in the county, the Monroe County Commissioners voted Monday to obtain from the Pennsylvania Department of Revenue a list of all taxpayers who may be eligible for the tax.

The personal property tax is a four-mill tax on "taxable, intangible holdings" including stocks, bonds, mortgages, promissory notes and other taxable securities. Some securities, such as stock in Pennsylvania corporations, are exempt from the tax.

The Department of Revenue, through the United States Internal Revenue Service, will, for 6.6 cents a name, supply the commissioners with names, addresses, and social security numbers of "taxpayers reporting more than zero amounts of dividends and/or interest payments" in their income tax return.

The service is offered by the Department for the purpose of "maximizing personal property tax collection."

Last year, the county collected approximately $87,000 of the tax, and Chairman Elwood Hintze said "We feel a greater number of people should be paying it."

Commissioner Nancy Shukaitis agreed. She said many people had come to her and said "We won't pay this tax until everyone who should be paying is."

Forms furnished

Hintze said that taxpayers throughout the county had been furnished with forms for reporting any personal property tax they may owe or for informing the county they owe nothing.

Both Hintze and Solicitor Elmer Christine noted that the only information the county receives through this service is names, addresses, and social security number. "You get everyone's name here," Hintze said, "and then there are a great many exemptions."

Commissioner Arlington Martin said that while at the state convention of county commissioners in Pittsburgh recently, he had been told that most counties do not participate with internal revenue, but the ones who have, have been highly successful and efficient in collection of the tax.

Christine noted that information received for the purpose of collecting the personal property tax was for that purpose only, and that stiff fines and penalties could be levied for misuse.

Mrs. Shukaitis moved the list be purchased "in order to protect citizens who are already paying the tax."

Commissioners voted to obtain from the Pennsylvania Department of Revenue a list of all taxpayers who may be eligible for the tax.

Christine said "It is a step that should meet with everyone's approval."

Additional business

In other business, the commissioners voted to permanently keep a machine which copies documents for 25 cents a copy in the Register and Recorder's office.

Register and Recorder Carl Yost and Jim Hayes of the Mical Corp., Ford, N.J., appeared before the commissioners to make the request. The machine has been in Yost's office for the past four months on a temporary basis.

Yost told the commissioners that by allowing people to make their own copies, the machine freed his staff from much of the time-consuming duty. He added that the 25 cents price was less than the 50 cents and one dollar price charged when copies are made by his personnel.

Hayes said the machines returned to the county 10 percent of the gross, for the first 400 copies, and 15 percent for all copies after that on a monthly basis. His firm takes care of maintenance, he said, and the only expense to the county is electricity.

The machine could mean more than 10 dollars a month for the county, Hayes said, plus Yost's office has free use of the machine including paper for inter-office copies.

Yost noted that the machine would be one of only two in the county, the other being in East Stroudsburg State College Library, for public use, and stressed that anyone may use the copier during hours his office is open.

Liquid Fuel Tax

The commissioners allocated $7,500 to Hamilton Township in liquid fuel tax funds for this year. Last year, Hamilton received $9,500. Also officially approved was the awarding of $15,000 to Stroud Township for special road projects last year.

Also allocated was $450 to Company "C" of the National Guard, the balance of their allocation for the year, and $2,000 to the Pocono Mountain Vacation Bureau, the balance of their allocation.

In response to a request by TIRAC, the commissioners decided to submit the Pocono Mountain Vacation Bureau and Chamber of Commerce to represent the county in the preparation of information brochures on the Delaware Water Gap National Recreation Area.

Hintze announced that the right to survey land in the Upper Broadheads Creek Flood Control Project had been granted by all but one landowner. That owner, who owns only about one acre, lives in New York and has not been reached yet for permission.

Hintze noted he was "very pleased" with progress so far.

At the request of President Judge Arlington W. Williams, the salary board met and approved the salary of Gloria Price as a secretary in the Probation Department at $70 a week, effective Aug. 26. She replaces Joann Ann Freuhuffer.

The salary board also hired Jean Platt of Stroudsburg R.D. 5 as a relief nurse's aide at $1.60 an hour, and Marjorie Van Zorge of Stroudsburg R.D. 2 as a nurses' aide replacing Anna Konopinski at $64 a week effective Aug. 15.

Chairman Henry Huffman who wrote to Pennsylvania's Attorney General requesting information on the right to charge a nominal fee at the West End Pool told the commission that the attorney general's answer was that Huffman should refer his query to the Monroe County Commissioners.

Other visitors included Mrs. Robert Nichols and Mrs. Alice Patterson, both officers from the Monroe County Better Housing Council.

Mrs. Nichols asked the commission if the First Ward Playground building will be open for the winter. She said she was disappointed that more work hasn't been done on repairs to the building.

Huffman told her that specifications have already been put on the construction repair bids.

Exonerations set on school property

STROUDSBURG — Assessment exonerations for Notre Dame and St. Matthew's Catholic High Schools were sent Monday to the Monroe County Commissioners by Chief Assessor William Petherman.

Petherman, who personally inspected the properties, suggested that the assessment board grant:

A full exoneration on the tracts of land including entrance and exit to Notre Dame High School.

A 50 percent exoneration on an asphalt lot next to St. Matthew's school One-half the use of the lot is a playground, and the other, taxable hall, is a church parking lot.

A 50 percent exoneration on the basic acreage surrounding Notre Dame High School. This is based on 50 percent use of the land for school purposes, at this time.

The commissioners authorized Petherman to prepare the exonerations as presented.

Police probe auto crash

EAST STROUDSBURG — The Board of Directors of the General Hospital of Monroe County Monday night voted to consider the hiring of a combination public relations-personnel director.

A spokesman for the board said applications for the job will be accepted in the office of Charles Swisher, administrator of the hospital.

In other business the board accepted a $4,000 payment from the hospital auxiliary. This is part of a $40,000 pledge made by the organization. The payment makes a total of $19,000 paid on the pledge.

The emergency section of the hospital reported that more than 3,500 visits have been made this month and that the number for the month should exceed the 4,000 mark. This is twice as many visits for the same period last year.

The board also recognized the appointment of Charles Swisher to serve on the council of insurance and reimbursement. The appointment was made by the Hospital Association of Pennsylvania.

Two suitcases taken at resort

SWIFTWATER — Two suitcases were stolen Monday between 1:30 a.m. and 1:50 a.m. from a station wagon parked in front of Mount Airy Lodge, State Police at Mount Pocono said.

The suitcases were owned by Joseph Iltioye of Englewood, N.J., who was inside the lodge completing registration.

State Police said the contents are valued at $1,000 and include suits, rings, and cash.

STROUDSBURG — The Grand Haven Brass Foundry, Grand Haven, Mich., filed a complaint Monday in the Monroe County Court against Earl L. Berry and Walter E. Hoffman, Jr., former co-partners in the Pocono Service and Supply Co.

PP&L sparks new interest in use of electric cars

STROUDSBURG — Not to be outdone by one of America's leading auto firm slogan's "There's a Ford in Your Future," Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. has its own "car of the future" — the electric car.

Ralph E. Reppert, manager of PP&L's Stroudsburg branch office, has been demonstrating a Mars II. Renault R-10 four passenger sedan, current list price $2,000, powered by 20 batteries, around the Stroudsburg area.

Reppert didn't say how he would be greeted if he pulled into a "gas" station with a flat tire, but his demonstration did prove that the electric car has tremendous potential in the near future for the suburban-urban driver. There is little question that electric cars in America's big cities would give the city dweller a "chance to breathe again."

Car of future

PP&L unveiled its electric car in Allentown in February. "The electric car is the car of the future for urban and suburban living," Reppert said Monday. "PP&L is proud to have a pioneering role in helping to develop for our customers another important use for electric energy."

Reppert claims that the Mars II demonstrates that a sufficiently economical, fast and comfortable car run by electricity is a practical reality today — not just a dream years from fulfillment.

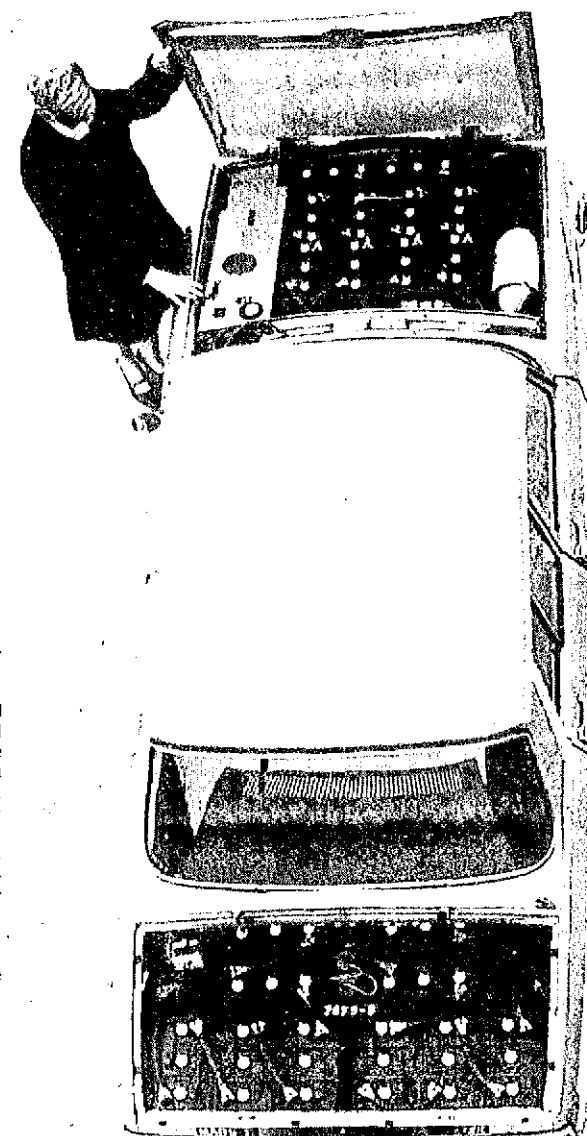

The Mars II has 20 lead cobalt batteries to power its 15 horsepower traction-type motor, 10 batteries under the hood and 10 in the rear trunk. Top speed is 60 miles per hour and the operating range is about 120 miles.

Regular recharging of the PP&L cars takes place from 220-volt outlets installed at PP&L service centers. The company at present owns a fleet of four electric cars with two more slated for delivery in the near future, Reppert said.

Compared to today's rush hour noise, the sounds of heavy electric car traffic would be barely a hum. Inside the electric car, a slight click is the only sound made as the driver turns the master switch to "on." In some, there is barely noticeable clicking of contactors during acceleration, and a quiet whirring of the traction motor. Full, instant power immediately is present, even in cold weather.

"Refueling" electric cars may open up an entirely new function for present gas stations. Electric car motorists could exchange discarded batteries for fully charged ones and allow service stations to recharge batteries during low-peak hours.

Charging units installed in much the same manner as parking meters are envisioned for the shopper or office worker in the city. Just plug the car's electric cord into the meter.

Twenty lead cobalt batteries, 10 under the hood and 10 in the rear trunk, supply power for the Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. electric car which has been seen but not heard as it makes its way around the Stroudsburg area driven by Ralph E. Reppert, manager of PP&L's Stroudsburg branch office.

ESSC 11 opens light drills; 66 to make Quantico trip

FAST STROUDSBURG — "The harder you work, the harder you surrender."

That will be the motto of the 1968 East Stroudsburg State football team which opened pre-season drills this morning at Normal Hill.

A total of 74 boys were expected to be on hand as the Warriors (7-1 last year) opened three days of three-day sessions without pads. The boys who are most impressive this week will leave Sunday for a week of rugged workouts at the Quantico Marine Base in Virginia.

After only a couple minutes of talking with head coach Charley Reese it was evident where the Warriors needed the most work — the offense.

The starting defensive unit remains intact with the exception of middle guard. And there Art Durham, who suffered a broken leg in the second game of the season, may fill the bill.

But it's a different story on offense. There there appears to be a shortage of running backs and interior linemen.

Billy Dukett, who had an outstanding year as a sophomore, heads a trio of quarterbacks. He is backed by Gary Childs and Jim Getz.

Graduation, injuries and grades have depleted the ranks of running backs. The first three running backs listed by Reese sat out last year for one reason or another.

Reese is hoping Jim Waite, starting quarterback in Reese's first year, can make it as a running back. Trevor Lawrence and Bill Hurst, who missed the season with injuries, are the other two boys being counted on to regain the form they showed in 1966.

Reese has done some juggling with his coaching staff as he hopes to make ESSC a two-platoon team this season.

The new breakdown has Denny Douds as defensive coordinator and in charge of linebackers; Bob Sulton, offensive linemen; Reese, offensive backs; Vern Welch, freshmen; newcomer Joe DeGreggio, defensive secondary and student coaches Doug McNamee, offensive ends and Ed Dear, defensive line.

The most notable change was the move of Welch, who worked with the offensive backs last year, taking over the control of the frosh.

Next week the Warriors are scheduled to have morning and afternoon sessions on the practice field and then each night will be run through the Obstacle Course.

The week will be capped with a game-like scrimmage against the Quantico Marines squad.

Yankees win opener; Angels coast in 2nd

NEW YORK (UPI)—Jim McGlothlin pitched a four-hitter and Roger Repoz's two-run homer capped a four-run fourth inning Monday night as the California Angels coasted to a 10-2 victory and a doubleheader split after the New York Yankees won the opener 6-1 behind Fritz Peterson, who pitched a four-hitter and doubled in two runs.

The Angels rocked loser Al Downing for four runs in the fourth inning to decide the game.

Cards blanked by Mets

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Tommy Agee stole third and then scored on Cleon Jones' sacrifice fly in the eighth inning Monday night to give Jim McAndrew his first major league victory as the New York Mets edged the St. Louis Cardinals 1-0.

McAndrew, who had been the victim of poor support while losing his first five major league decisions, blanked the Cards on five hits while he struck out three and walked none.

Steve Carlton matched McAndrew until the eighth inning when Agee's baserunning proved the difference. Carlton gave up six hits while suffering his ninth loss against 11 victories.

Agee singled in the eighth and was sacrificed to second by Phil Linz. Agee stole third while Jones was batting and then scored on Jones' sacrifice fly.

Jones also made a diving catch in left field in the bottom of the seventh to rob Tim McCarver of at least a double and it saved McAndrew's victory since Mike Shannon followed with a single.

Blass yields 9 hits but zips Braves

ATLANTA (UPI)—Steve Blass scattered nine singles as the Pittsburgh Pirates defeated the Atlanta Braves 4-0 Monday night and moved to within one game of fifth place in the National League.

In the first inning, Maury Wills singled off loser Milt Pappas, 9-10, stole second, moved to third when catcher Joe Torre's throw got through second base and then came home on Matty Alou's sacrifice fly.

Clint Besecker knocks in ace

TAMMINT — A golf outing at Tammint proved to be cause for a major celebration for Clint Besecker last weekend. He shot a hole-in-one.

Besecker scored his ace on the 50-yard seventh hole using a no. 8 iron.

He was playing in a foursome with Les Abellof, Joe McCluskey and Warren Longey.

Bills lose Kemp for season

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (UPI)—The Buffalo Bills lost veteran quarterback Jack Kemp for the season and rookie halfback Gary McDermott for two weeks as coach Joe Collier's new "get tough" policy backfired during a closed scrimmage Monday. Kemp, starting his seventh season with the American Football League club, suffered torn ligaments in his right knee. McDermott sprained his right elbow during the 40-play scrimmage.

Dolphins release Lusteg

BOCA RATON, Fla. (UPI)—The Miami Dolphins Monday released kicking specialist Boah Lusteg, the man whose miss Friday night cost the team a pre-season victory over Boston.

Let go with Lusteg was former University of Miami center Joe Mirto, a 10th round draft choice. Put on injured waivers were halfback Joe Auer, who suffered facial cuts in an auto accident last week, and Rick Kestner, a split end suffering a hip injury.

Removal of the four men leaves the Dolphins strength at 42, not including the three men who played in the all-star game. League rules required the squad to be at a maximum of 43 by Monday.

Lusteg predicted his own release, saying he let the team as well as himself down Friday night when he missed a 30-yard field goal in the last 20 seconds that would have given Miami a victory over Boston in an exhibition game played at Jacksonville. The miss marred an exciting second half comeback by the Dolphins after a first half devoted mostly to experimenting with rookies.

Jets cut eight

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (UPI)—The New York Jets made their biggest roster revision of the pre-season campaign Monday when they cut eight players, including three-year lineman Jim Harris, a former Utah State star.

Others cut were Jim Heidel, a defensive back signed as a free agent after being cut by the New Orleans Saints; second-year defensive back Henry King; tight end Bill Starr, a former Hofstra player on the taxi squad; Gary Magner, a defensive end and the team's No. 4 draft choice from Southern California; rookie defensive back Mike D'Amato of Hofstra; defensive tackle Ilay Hayes of Toledo and offensive end Bill Rademacher, who has been on and off the taxi squad the past four years.

The scrimmage began moments after Collier told newsmen he had fined every member of the Bills squad for what he termed "shoddy" play in Buffalo's 37-7 loss to the Houston Oilers Friday night.

Collier refused to disclose the amount of the fines, but said even the injured players were hit.

"I fined even the injured players because I didn't want an argument about who was to blame and who wasn't," Collier said.

Kemp, who led Buffalo to three straight Eastern Division championships and two league titles, was injured when hit by 263-pound defensive end Ron McDole after he threw a long pass. The injury left Kemp's entire football future in doubt. He is 33 years old.

Rookie quarterback Dan Darragh of William & Mary is expected to get the starting assignment Friday night when the Bills host the Cleveland Browns.

Darragh shared the signal calling duties with Kemp during Buffalo's first four exhibition games.

The Bills, however, plan to activate injured Tom Flores as a backup for Darragh. Flores has been on the waiver list with a sore arm, but took part in Monday's practice session and reported he felt much better.

Collier closed Monday's session to the public and press—a rare move—because "I wanted to say things I don't want outside the football team itself."

Perry's one-hitter downs Cubs, 3-0

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Hard luck Gaylord Perry missed a perfect game by just one pitch Monday—a seventh inning single by Glenn Beckert—and had to settle for a one-hitter in San Francisco's 3-0 shut out of the Chicago Cubs.

Perry retired 19 straight batters before Beckert grounded his single through the box. As things turned out, Beckert wound up as the only base runner the slim right-hander permitted as he mopped up the Cubs on just 75 pitches.

He struck out three batters, but was so completely in charge that only five Chicago hitters managed to lift the ball out of the infield.

Once Willie Mays drilled his 17th homer with none on in the first, Perry had all the help he needed to notch his 13th victory in 24 decisions.

It was the first one-hitter in Perry's big league career dating back to 1962. However, he had pitched a pair of two-hitters and two three-hitters this season.

Mays also drove in San Francisco's second run in the sixth with a single, after Bobby Bonds walked and moved to second on a sacrifice by Ron Hunt. Mays scored the third run in the eighth when he doubled and came around while Ernie Banks was fumbling. Jim Davenport's grounder to first.

Bill Hands pitched the first 7 1-3 innings for Chicago and suffered his eighth loss compared to 14 victories. While he was in the game, the Giants tagged him for all three runs and seven hits.

Chicago's lineup included: Kessinger ss, Bonds rf, Beckert 2b, Williams rf, Banks 1b, Santo 3b, Smith cf, Spangler c, Hundley c, Spaulder c, Lamabe p.

San Francisco's lineup included: Perry p, Bonds rf, Beckert 2b, Williams rf, Banks 1b, Santo 3b, Smith cf, Spangler c, Hundley c, Spaulder c, Lamabe p.

Chicago 0, San Francisco 3. The game was played at Candlestick Park, San Francisco. Attendance: 12,111. Time: 2:15. A-5,552.

Montreal adds Doby to staff

MONTREAL (UPI)—Montreal's still unnamed National League baseball club has added former major leaguer Larry Doby to its scouting staff, it was announced Monday.

General Manager Jim Fanning said Doby would cover the National League and high minors in preparation for the October baseball expansion draft.

Al Kaline: It's never anything minor with me

NEW YORK (UPI)—Poor Al Kaline.

Like he says, "I never get the little things. It's never anything minor with me."

He was out more than a month already this season with a broken arm and now he has come down with a pulled muscle in his thigh. Kaline injured the thigh running out a double in Sunday's opener between the Tigers and Yankees and aggravated the condition when he swung at a pitch in the ninth.

The Detroit people estimate their 33-year-old outfielder-first baseman will be sidelined at least a few days.

But as injuries go, this one is nothing for Al Kaline. He and Mickey Mantle are thinking of opening up their own emergency clinic.

Back in 1959 Kaline suffered a fractured cheekbone. In 1962 he broke his collarbone saving a Detroit victory with a diving catch on the final play of the game. In 1965 he cracked his ribs and underwent an operation on his foot. Last year he was out with a broken finger and earlier this year Lew Krausse of Oakland hit him with a pitch and broke his arm.

Now this.

Before he hurt himself at Yankee Stadium Sunday, Al Kaline pulled a chair over to his locker, sat down on it and talked about how it feels to be with a ball club that has just clinched the pennant.

He wasn't talking from personal experience because the Tigers are wobbling around a little and haven't clinched this one yet and Al Kaline hasn't been with a previous pennant winner in his life.

"I've seen it on television, though, and I could tell what a tremendous feeling it is," he said. "I'm talking about one of those pennant clinches they celebrate in the clubhouse. I saw grown men so happy they cried."

The closest Al Kaline ever got to being any part of that, live, that is, and not on TV, was the final day of last season. The Tigers still had a chance for at least a pennant the night up until the 27th putout of their second game of a doubleheader with the Angels. But they lost the game and the Red Sox, who were watching on TV in Boston, went ahead and had themselves a second celebration. They had their first one after beating the Twins.

Despite the fact the Tigers had a rough time here over the weekend and watched their lead whittled to five games, Kaline feels he is closer to his first world series right now than he was on the final day last year. He agrees a lot can happen between now and Sept. 30 but he believes the Tigers will win and his greatest wish is to help represent them in the world series.

"I hope he gets his wish," says Mayo Smith, the Detroit manager.

"I hope I get mine, too," he adds. "Both of us have the same wish. I've been in baseball 35 years and I've never been in a world series, either."

Al Kaline completed his 15th year with Detroit June 21 and everybody connected with the club knows how much he wants to play in a world series. They also know how much he has meant to the club since he first joined it in 1963.

"His desire is still there," says Smith. "It's the same as it was when he was the batting champion at 20. The years haven't dimmed his desire at all. Sometimes they ask me whether he has slowed up. Sure he has a little. Who hasn't? Show me anybody who plays 2,000 games who hasn't. Go out there and try playing 2,000 games. You'll slow up a little, too."

In all his years with the Tigers, Al Kaline played the outfield. But this year he tried playing first base after his broken arm mended and did well enough so that Smith says he wouldn't be afraid to play him there in a world series if he had to.

Next year Al Kaline says he's going to play for sure. About the year after that he's not so sure.

"I'll see how it goes next season," he said. "If I have a reasonably good year and don't get hurt I may try playing the year after next. I'll see how I feel and what my family thinks about it."

Right now, Al Kaline and the rest of his Detroit teammates try not to think about the world series. Not too much, anyway, although it's obvious how much Kaline would like to play in one.

"I think everybody wants to," he said. "Just once, anyway. But it isn't life and death with me. I won't kill myself if I don't get into the world series."

Certainly he won't. It'll sure kill him a little inside, though.

Economic picture fairly bright

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stock prices showed slight improvement, in routine trading Monday after profit-taking gradually chipped away at an early advance.

Brokers attributed early demand to a response to reports the Soviets will accept the regime of liberal Alexander Dubcek in Czechoslovakia and gradually withdraw its troops from the invaded country.

But enthusiasm waned in the afternoon and observers said traders want something a little more concrete before making any definite decisions.

The economic picture was fairly bright with Ford concurring with Chrysler's prediction of record auto sales this year and machine tool orders, a major economic indicator, improving last month. But again, analysts said the news was fairly routine and not calculated to stimulate any real demand.

Volume contracted slightly to 9,740,000 shares from the 9,890,000 shares on Friday.

Large block trading, a sign of institutional participation, totaled 35 blocks of 10,000 or more compared with 49 such transactions on Friday.

Penn Central moved into the top slot on the active list, losing 2 1/2 to 63 1/2 on 193,100 shares, including a single block of 163,300 shares traded at 63. The Interstate Commerce Commission said it will reopen its study of the terms by which Penn will take over the ailing New Haven line.

Glen Alden finished in second place, easing 1/2 to 15 on 170,700 shares. Two blocks totaling 128,000 shares traded at the same price. Glen Alden said it had acquired 60 per cent ownership of Schenley Industries through its tender offer and had called for the election of a new board of directors for the liquor firm. Trading in Schenley, which finished off 2 1/2 at 5 1/2, was halted by the exchange which said it would not permit further trading in the issue until it makes public information that Glen Alden has broadened its offer, which is due to expire Friday.

Control Data, heavily sold last week, fell another 1 1/2 to 12 1/2 in third place with a turnover of 155,500 shares. Brokers attributed the current loss to reports that Control will have lower pro forma first quarter earnings as a result of its merger with Commercial Credit.

A block of 124,000 shares at 60 accounted for most of the volume of Masonite, which finished in fourth place, off 2 1/2 at that price. Gulton Industries closed in fifth place, holding unchanged at 3 1/2 on 114,200 shares including a block of 91,600 shares.

DuPont rose 1 1/2 to 15 1/2 in the mixed chemicals. Monsanto and Kodak also gained, but Dow eased 1 1/2 to 7 1/2. Oils moved higher in most instances. Jersey Standard and Texaco each gained 1 to 7 1/2 and 7 1/2, respectively. Atlantic Richfield ran counter, giving up 1 1/2 to 9 1/2.

Airlines held in a narrow range. Curtis-Wright gained 1 1/2 to 25 1/2 in the mixed aircrafts. Lockheed lost 1 1/2 to 54 1/2.

Price improvement slight

A decline in sulphur prices had little impact on investor thinking and hardly any effect on the sulphur group itself.

The blue chips moved narrowly in either direction. The glamor stocks eased later in the day.

Of the 1,491 issues traded, 691 advanced, 557 declined and 243 closed unchanged. There were 50 new 1968 highs set, 28 lows.

The UPI marketwide indicator picked up 0.09 per cent to 124.63 while the New York Stock Exchange common stock index reflected a gain of 8 cents in the average share price.

Dow-Jones industrial average picked up 3 1/2 to 896.13 but the rail and utility averages were easier.

Volume contracted slightly to 9,740,000 shares from the 9,890,000 shares on Friday.

Large block trading, a sign of institutional participation, totaled 35 blocks of 10,000 or more compared with 49 such transactions on Friday.

Penn Central moved into the top slot on the active list, losing 2 1/2 to 63 1/2 on 193,100 shares, including a single block of 163,300 shares traded at 63. The Interstate Commerce Commission said it will reopen its study of the terms by which Penn will take over the ailing New Haven line.

Glen Alden finished in second place, easing 1/2 to 15 on 170,700 shares. Two blocks totaling 128,000 shares traded at the same price. Glen Alden said it had acquired 60 per cent ownership of Schenley Industries through its tender offer and had called for the election of a new board of directors for the liquor firm. Trading in Schenley, which finished off 2 1/2 at 5 1/2, was halted by the exchange which said it would not permit further trading in the issue until it makes public information that Glen Alden has broadened its offer, which is due to expire Friday.

Control Data, heavily sold last week, fell another 1 1/2 to 12 1/2 in third place with a turnover of 155,500 shares. Brokers attributed the current loss to reports that Control will have lower pro forma first quarter earnings as a result of its merger with Commercial Credit.

A block of 124,000 shares at 60 accounted for most of the volume of Masonite, which finished in fourth place, off 2 1/2 at that price. Gulton Industries closed in fifth place, holding unchanged at 3 1/2 on 114,200 shares including a block of 91,600 shares.

DuPont rose 1 1/2 to 15 1/2 in the mixed chemicals. Monsanto and Kodak also gained, but Dow eased 1 1/2 to 7 1/2. Oils moved higher in most instances. Jersey Standard and Texaco each gained 1 to 7 1/2 and 7 1/2, respectively. Atlantic Richfield ran counter, giving up 1 1/2 to 9 1/2.

Airlines held in a narrow range. Curtis-Wright gained 1 1/2 to 25 1/2 in the mixed aircrafts. Lockheed lost 1 1/2 to 54 1/2.

Young girls display craft in 4-H clothing exhibits

GILBERT — The 4-H foods and sewing exhibits are an ambitious addition by the young homemakers. The finished products hardly can reflect the enthusiasm and endurance of the 4-H girl as she casually places her original production on line with similar creations.

The clothing entries were placed as follows: start-stitching class, slip-on entries: first, Susan Becker; second, Deborah Woodling; third, Rebecca Gray; fourth, Kathy Smith; fifth, Jane Bond. Make a cotton skirt: first place to Marie Zatecky. Let's make a dress: first, Nancy Withrow; second, Barbara Storm; third, Margaret Prosser; fourth, Mary Heffer; fifth, Betsy Albert. Make a school dress: first, Janice Hilliard; second, Cindy Schaller; third, Sue Ellen Woolover; fourth, Susan Rustine.

Wool skirt: first, Jan Carlton; second, Sherry Carlton; third, Abby Porter; fourth, Cindy Woolover. Free lance: first, Tracy Granger. Knitting: first year: first, Sue Ellen Woolover; second, Cindy Woolover; third, Denise Dodd; fourth, Peggy Prosser; fifth, Vicki Woolover and Susan Woodling. Second year: first, Karin Kuzma; second, Mary Ann Butz; third, Peggy Prosser; fourth, Debbie Woodling; fifth, Casandra Woodling and Denise Dodd.

Start stitching, slippers: first, Darlene Dippie; second, Elizabeth Heffer; third, Vicki Woolover; tote bag: first, Cathy Albert; second, Linda Hilliard; fifth, Denia Weaver and Edie Sue Wells; scarf: second, Wella Dean Baker; third, Wanda Prailey; apron: first, Lora Gae Smith.

Foods and nutrition, cooking over coals: first, Kathy Albert; second, Cindy Schaller and third, Deborah Williams.

It's fun to bake: first, Kathy King; second, Kathy Mary; third, Elena Blair.

Home furnishings, Annette Johnson placed first, for waste paper can; second for wall hanging and third for curtains.

4-H exhibits show industrious youth

By FRED WALTER
Pocono Record Reporter
GILBERT — The 4-H exhibits for the West End Fair are an attraction which needs little introduction except a simple invitation to come and see the thoughts and deeds of young people in action through their attentive displays.

Three day display
The 4-H entries which were judged Monday afternoon are regular class entries of the fair and will be on display throughout the three day run starting today.

For the group exhibits, the placings were as follows: first, "4-H Kids and Goats" from the goat club under its leader, Mrs. Ronald Rowlands, portraying all the phases and value of raising goats; second, Garden Raisers club under its leader, Marvin Vaughn, with emphasis on "join the march to good health"; third, Flower Growers club under leader, Mrs. Russell Butz with theme "flowering bulbs are fun".

Education exhibits
Individual educational exhibits were placed as follows: first, Mary Anne Rennekamp focusing on the importance of insecticides in gardening; second, Abby Porter with a colorful and detailed clothing display "styles and fabrics for you".

Third, Jerry Rennekamp on the importance of goats, "Who needs her - we do" and shows why.

Vegetables
Placings for 4-H Vegetables classes. In the first year group: first, Mary Ann Rennekamp; second, Tim Taylor; third, Joe Rennekamp.

Second year group: second place to Dean Vaughn; third year group: first place to Craig Reish.

For Apiary products, first place to Craig Reish.

Thousands expected

Fairgrounds prepared for crowds

By Elliott Brown

Pocono Record Reporter

GILBERT — Excitement isn't exactly the thing you find at the West End Fair the day before it opens.

Hard work, fresh hay, shining farm machinery and unfilled exhibition buildings are plentiful, but the fun and happiness that fill the air once the fair gets underway isn't there yet.

Probably, that's the way it should be. After all, with only 24 hours to go before the thousands of visitors begin pouring into the fairgrounds, the fun will have to wait until the work is over.

All in all, the fairgrounds were downright lonely Monday. The only livestock to be found, not counting a few dogs, was eight chickens in four coops next to the 4-H building.

Just to add a little variety to the afternoon, one of them escaped, greatly exciting his fellow chickens. But he was quickly recaptured and things returned to normal.

At the carnival area, hardly anyone was around. The faded yellow and blue and grey flaps were down in front of the games and sideshows, a ferris wheel stood with four of its chairs still unattached, and the only things moving in the area were the rotors on top of the helicopter ride, blowing in the wind.

The sounds, and smells and sights that characterize the fair are missing also. A loudspeaker blaring "Down Cherry Street" by the Tijuana Brass much too loudly sounded just plain out of place.

Two little girls, about five or six, obviously bored while waiting for their mother or father to finish preparing an exhibit, danced to the music on the stage of the bandstand, with its wooden benches still piled on each other on the side of the platform.

The big white building in which so many visitors have been fed the traditional pork and sauerkraut for so many years also stood locked, but through the screen, colorful pitchers, shining pots and pans, and covered tables showed that everything was ready in that department.

"Please do not remove any exhibits before 9:30 p.m. Thursday," said a sign over the white-lined shelves in Exhibition Building No. 1. Unfortunately, either nobody paid any attention to the sign, or it didn't have to be there yet.

At any rate, the white-lined shelves had only one thing on them, the paper that lined them.

Even the building that houses the business exhibits was only partly full. An effort furniture store had their display complete, and a motorcycle dealer and a music store were in the process of finishing theirs.

Two men strained as they rolled a piano into place in the corner of the exhibit area.

Of course, the farm machinery display was set up, the new and modern machinery reflecting the sun and also reflecting the changes in farming since the West End Fair opened 47 years ago.

Frank Christman training to win

GILBERT — Talk to any 4-H boy or girl and each will give you a very good reason what each derives from being a 4-H member and why they are a part of the universal 4-H family.

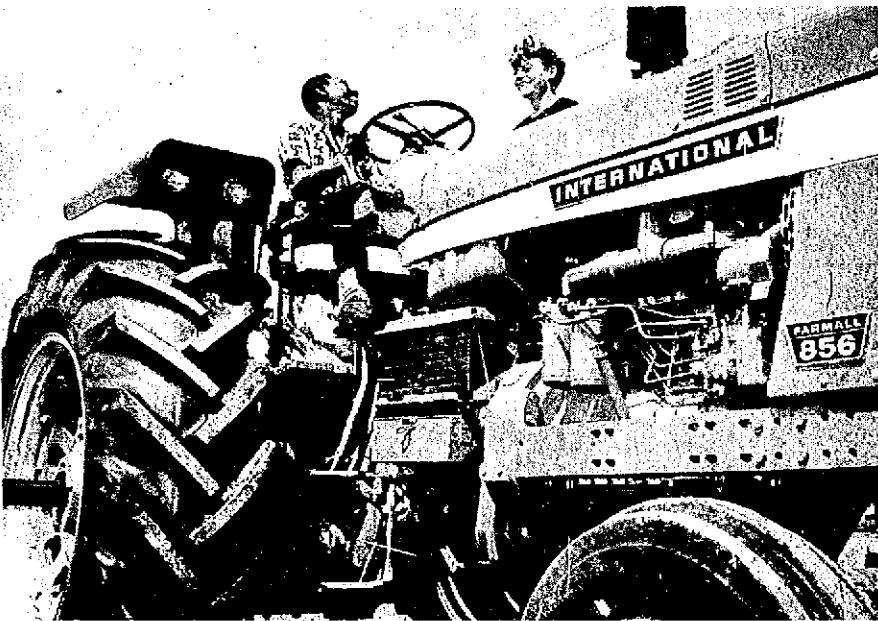

Frank Christman, 14 year old 4-H Horse Club member from Gilbert has been a part of the program for three years now and has a worthy list of experiences and personal accomplishments to note since he took his first riding lessons four years ago with Charles Hendry of Neola.

The son of Frank Christman, the younger Christman said he really wasn't brought up on the farm but used to eye the horse shows at the fairgrounds and decided to try it.

Frank is now part of the Monroe County team which placed first in the District 4-H Show, along with Sherrill Snyder of Saylorsburg, R.D. and Anna Costar East Stroudsburg, R.D. 3. They will be entering state competition in Harrisburg in November.

"Sir Blaze", a sorrel gelding, now 11 years old is Christman's first horse.

Many changes are visible at West End fairgrounds

GILBERT — The West End Fair, as always, is composed of a lot old and a lot new again this year.

Probably the most noticeable change to long-time fairgoers will be the absence of poultry in the poultry building, and swine and sheep in the swine and sheep building.

According to Larry Krome, who has been secretary of the Fair for the past five years, all the livestock can be found in the Cattle Building this year. Health and safety regulations are the reason for this, Krome noted. He said that requirements were so strict that the Fair's board decided it would be easier to house all the animals together.

If you're looking for the flower exhibits, by the way, you'll find them where the chickens used to be, and the 4-H clubs have taken over the swine and sheep building.

Krome said that more exhibitors were expected than ever before. "If we keep going the way we have for the past few years," he said, "we'll have a lot more than we had before."

Citing the entertainment for the three days of the 47th annual fair, Krome said on Tuesday night, the Pleasant Valley High School Band will play; all day Wednesday the Mahoning Valley Variety Band will perform, and the Mahoning Valley Band, along with the Country Cousins, will perform Thursday night at the fair's close.

Krome noted that the board of the Fair has been working on this years since just weeks after last year's closed. "We plan for entertainment, rides, and other things that need advance work," Krome said.

He noted that any profits from the fair go for its improvement.

Krome a young man, said he enjoyed being secretary of the fair. "It's interesting work," he said, "and you get to meet a lot of people."

Fair judging no easy matter

GILBERT — When you walk down the aisles of the exhibition buildings of the West End Fair, stop a minute and think about what must go into the judging.

Monday, the 4-H exhibits were judged. Ann Lott, assistant county agent, and Dawne Sensinger, extension home economist, took time from their busy schedules to describe the finer points of judging.

Judges for the exhibits, Miss Lott said, were highly qualified for their work. They were Mrs. Martha Chapman, Wayne County home economist and Don Bashore.

Unknown Sounds at fair

NEWFOUNDLAND — On Wednesday, the Greene-Dreher-Sterling Community Fair, 51 years old, will open with a full schedule of activities beginning with registration of exhibits from 10 a.m. until 7 p.m.

Entertainment will be presented by the Unknown Sounds. There's a story behind their appearance at the Greene-Dreher-Sterling Community Fair! It seems the entertainment chairman was walking down a Scranton street one day when he heard a band rehearsing on a nearby porch.

One earful was enough to convince him that what he heard was good...so he rushed up on the porch and signed them on the spot.

The real topper for the story comes when it is revealed that The Unknown Sounds—whose sounds will soon be known by everyone—are not teenagers. They are pre-teens...and terrific at that!

Trap shooting will begin at the fairgrounds at 7:30 p.m.

Meier replaces beat of heart

NEW YORK (AP) — Something new will be added to those romantic moonlight rides through Central Park in a horse-drawn cab. The ticking you hear will be a meter, not your lasso's heart.

The 63 flower-decorated cabs will be equipped with mechanical devices to prevent overcharging by drivers, Joseph L. Forst, acting license commissioner, said Sunday.

Pocono Rambler Manufacturing Co. Carries A Complete Selection of Pickup Covers

Pocono Rambler Manufacturing Company, located at Carl and Shirley's Mobile Home Sales in Marshall's Creek has a complete selection of Pick-up Covers to fill every work or play need. The company which is a part of Carl and Shirley's is currently showing a large display of models at the West End Fair.

The idea to convert any pick-up to an All-weather vehicle is a popular one in America today and eliminates general problems incurred when one is tenting out. The price ranges are modest ranging from $325 to $419.50. There are optional extras such as an extra 12 volt light, roof vent, overhead cabinets, curtains, and boat racks.

All pickup covers are fully insulated. Manufactured by Winnebago Industries they are constructed of exterior aluminum skin and interior plywood paneling bonded to a core of Styrofoam. The thermo-panel constructed is solid, laminated and exceptionally strong and rigid. They'll support more than 10 times the weight of the cap, yet they weigh 30 per cent less than conventional campers.

The exterior skin is Alcoa aluminum with famous "Tone-Kote" baked-on automotive enamel finish. It stands up under the toughest weather conditions without needing painting. The interiors are smart plywood paneling as modern as used in today's homes. Prefinished it resists scratching or marring.

The thermo-panel core of Styrofoam is one of the finest insulations known. It keeps out summer heat and winter cold and makes the camper useable year around. Pocono Rambler Manufacturing Company invites you to see their large display now at the West End Fair or to drop by the lot at Carl and Shirley's Mobile Home Sales in Marshall's Creek, Pa.
